'Aunt Sadie' Still Active

Resident of Iberia Is 105

IBERIA'S "AUNT SADIE" is marking her 105th birthday anniversary today.

"Aunt Sadie" is Mrs. Sarah Ellen Rhodebeck, who is shown looking over a worn sheepskin bound Bible in which her Dec. 17, 1848 birthday is recorded. This cherished possession of hers was a gift from Mary McClenathan to her son, Samuel, Aunt Sadie's father. He, in turn, handed it down to the Iberian.

She has taken great interest this year in the celebration of Ohio's sesquicentennial, since her father was born in 1803, the same year Ohio was settled. Aunt Sadie herself was born in the year when Morrow County was formed.

Loving care by thoughtful daughters has contributed much to Mrs. Rhodebeck's long life. She makes her home with one of them, Mrs. Dave Snyder. She still is able to help here and there around the home.

Mrs. Rhodebeck recalls how she rode horseback to Mansfield and Marion in the early days when the area was heavily forested and land was purchased for one dollar an acre.

Her birthplace was on the Washington - Congress Township boundary line in Morrow County at the present Aaron Smith farm. She recalls many parties and husking bees where red ears of corn were numerous.

The Iberia Central College is the 105-year-old lady's alma mater. Former President Warren G. Harding also attended the college now marked by the school grounds and the Harding Elm in Iberia Village.

Bus Strike Averted After Pledge From Businessmen To Aid Firm

Group Plans Campaign To Raise Capital

$10,000 Stock Issue Slated; Funds To Be Used To Make Repairs

An offer of Marion merchants to try to raise $10,000 capital for Marion Transit, Inc., today resulted in postponement of a strike of bus drivers scheduled Friday.

Marion Chamber of Commerce members met yesterday with bus company officials and pledged to help the company solve its financial difficulties by promoting the sale of a preferred stock issue of $10,000.

Bus Repairs Asked

The drivers had voted for a walkout to begin after midnight Thursday unless the company repaired the heating systems of the busses and began a long-range program of bus repairs.

The company, citing lack of funds due to decreasing patronage, said it could not repair the busses, and the situation remained in a stalemate until the Chamber members made their offer.

John Tanner, president of Local 222, Transport Workers of America, said the drivers voted at a meeting yesterday to hold off the strike until Jan. 1, pending fulfillment of plans to make repairs to the city busses.

The union meeting followed a meeting of bus company and city cials with members of the Chamber Retail Board of Managers.

Sale To Start Dec. 28

Al Hamburg, chairman of the board, said today the plans are to start the sale of the stock in the company on Dec. 28 and that the stock will be sold to anyone who wishes to purchase it.

Tanner said today that the union will "go along with the request to delay the strike" until Jan. 1 to see whether or not there is any progress toward raising the money to make the repairs on the busses.

He said the bus drivers are demanding that heaters in the busses be repaired immediately and that a long-range program to make repairs of transmissions, clutches, springs, and other equipment on the busses be placed in effect.

Reds Prepare To Try Beria, 6 Others

$100,000 TRAFFIC CRASH. All this devastation occurred because an auto struck another in Brooklyn N. Y. The car which was struck turned over and the original car careened down an incline, rammed another parked auto, then struck the front of the radio appliance store (above), knocking down a 40-foot section of the roof. As the roof fell, a steampipe exploded and a number of TV tubes blew up. There were shoppers in the store but none was injured. However, Mrs. Jessie Osby, driver of the careening auto, was hospitalized, as were the man, wife and two children in the car which overturned. Owner of the radio store estimated damage at $100,000.

Confess Plots Against State, Soviets Claim

Case Against Former No. 2 Man in Russia Readied by Kremlin

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government announced today that Lavrenty P. Beria has confessed to plotting against the state and will go on trial with six key members of the police network he headed for 15 years.

The official announcement, published in the government newspaper Izvestia, said the Soviet state prosecutor had completed his case against Beria, Premier Georgi Malenkovs top deputy until his arrest June 26.

Special Trial

Moscow radio said the seven men would be tried at a special sitting of the Soviet Supreme Court. It did not say when.

The government announcement said Beria and his associates aimed at using "the organs of the Ministry of Internal Affairs . . . against the Communist party and the government of the U.S.S.R. in the interests of foreign capital . . . to grab power and to liquidate the Soviet worker-peasant regime with a view to restoring capitalism and securing the domination of the bourgeoisie (middle class)."

Beria, who headed the nation's police activities from 1938 until his arrest, was first deputy prime minister and minister of internal affairs under Malenkov. The internal affairs post controls police, intelligence and related work.

'Admitted Guilt'

The statement said Bera and his associates "admitted their guilt of having committed a number of the most serious state crimes.'

It declared that the former police boss had been committed for trial on charges of high treason, organizing an anti-Soviet plot and counter-revolutionary work.

Similar charges were listed against the six other defendants, identified as:

V. N. Merkulov, former minister of state security and long Beria's deputy.

V. G. Dekanozov and S. A. Goglodze, both former ministers of internal affairs in Georgia, the native republic of both Beria and Joseph Stalin.

P. Y. Meshik, a former minister of internal affairs in the Ukraine.

L. E. Vlodzimirsky, described as the former head of the investigation department "for particularly important affairs of the U.S.S.R. MVD (secret police)."

Plotting Charged

B. Z. Kobulov, former Soviet deputy minister of internal affairs who had previously served in a similar position in the Georgia administration.

The statement charged Beria had used his position to collect "a treacherous group of plotters hostile to the Soviet state." His own "traitorous" activities, it declared, went as far back as the Russian

French Begin Job of Electing New President

None of 7 Announced Candidates Possesses The Required Majority

VERSAILLES, France (AP) — France's Parliament trekked to the historic old Palace of Versailles today to elect the second President of the fourth French Republic. There were indications it might be a long process.

Seven candidates were announced to suceed Socialist Vincent Auriol in the seven-year post of great prestige but few real powers. There was a possibility that several others might enter the field, and also that a voting deadlock might produce other compromise choices.

Under France's multiparty system, none of the nine factions holds anything like a majority of the 946 seats in the National Assembly and the Council of the Republic (Senate). Since each member must walk to the rostrum singly to cast his vote, each ballot takes about four hours. Two a day is about the maximum.

Parliament was called to meet in the assembly hall built in 1871 in the open courtyard of the palace, 10 miles from Paris. Voting is secret, the winner the first man to get a majority of the votes cast. There are no campaign speeches.

Veteran observers expected no decision before the third, or possibly the fourth, vote.

These were the announced official candidates:

Temperature May Hit 5 Below Tonight; Cold To Stay Friday

The mercury in Marion dropped to 2 above zero last night as cold and clear weather spread over the eastern part of the United States.

Although the winter season officially does not start until Monday, its cold and snow have descended upon a wide area from the Rockies eastward to the Atlantic coast.

Temperatures are expected to drop below seasonal levels again tonight with a low of from 5 below to 5 above expected locally.

Forecast for Friday is partly cloudy and cold.

Yesterday, the mercury climbed to only 22 degrees and there were a few snow flurries last night.

In many sections of the Upper Mississippi Valley, sub-zero temperatures were recorded, according to an Associated Press dispatch. The cold air also extended southward into the Gulf states.

Early morning temperatures today ranged from 23 degrees below zero at International Falls, Minn., to 24 above at Atlanta, Ga.

It was 21 below at St. Cloud, Minn., 19 below at Grantsburg, Wis., and 9 below at Minneapolis today.

Rockford, Ill., reported 4 below and Chicago was near the zero mark for the season's coldest day.

B29 Crashes During Storm In Guam, 17 Die

Hits Military Housing Area; Victims Include 2 Women, 6 Children

GUAM (AP)—A homeward-bound B29 Superfort, forced to turn back by engine trouble, plunged into a military housing area and exploded today, killing 17 persons and injuring 14.

The big bomber dropped out of a stormy sky just short of its goal and smashed a fiery 800-foot path through the Quonset homes of U.S. Air Force families.

2 Women Victims

The dead—3 crewmen, 5 military passengers, 6 children, 2 women and 1 Air Force officer.

The injured—14 persons including 1 woman. The Air Force said two of the injured are in critical condition.

Seven crewmen and one passenger were rescued from the blazing wreckage.

No names were announced.

Only minutes before the crash the Superfort took off from Anderson Air Force Base here en route to the United States on a routine rotation flight. It carried a crew of 10 and 6 military passengers.

Fifty miles out, the pilot radioed that the plane had developed engine trouble and he was turning back. It made one aproach to the field but did not land. On the second approach it faltered just short of the runway and ripped into the housing area.

Falls During Storm

The crash occurred during a howling storm which forced the Navy and Air Force to suspend temporarily the search for a big Navy weather plane which vanished about 300 miles north of Guam yesterday.

The weather plane carried nine men and was tracking the season's fourth typhoon across the Pa-

Yankee Stadium Sold to K of C for Over Two Million

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A Knights of Columbus official disclosed here the K. of C. will buy the famed Yankee Stadium for "slightly more than two million dollars" in a deal being consummated in New York today.

William J. Mulligan of Hartford, deputy supreme knight of the order and chairman of its Mortgage Investment Committee, said under terms of the purchase contract, the Yankees will have the right, if they wish, to buy back the stadium after 15 years.

Purchase of the big Bronx, stadium "will be consummated at New York today to bring to a close negotiations that have been under way for several weeks" said Mulligan.

Escaped POW Says Reds Put Guards on GIs

3 or 4 Americans, 20 ROKs Claimed Ready To Come Back to UNC

PANMUNJOM (AP)—A South Korean who fled from a pro-Communist prisoner compound said today diehard Red leaders are guarding 3 and perhaps 4 Americans and 20 South Korean POWs who may want to go home.

The young soldier said compound leaders deliberately stalled allied explanations to prisoners who refused repatriation because they feared "detections."

Named Four

He named four Americans who might come home if given an opportunity, but the names were withheld by military authorities to prevent possible reprisals.

Far East Command censors later permitted identification of one, Cpl. William A. Cowart of Monticello, Ark., on ground of prior publication in the United States.

There was no indication that the other names would be released.

The South Korean Wednesday crawled through barbed wire surrounding the compound holding prisoners listed as pro-Communist and asked an Indian guard for repatriation. He was returned to the U. N. Command the same day.

There was some official skepticism over the report of Pfc. Kim Mun Du, a 22-year-old ROK soldier captured by the Reds in the summer of 1951.

The Indian Command which guards unrepatriated prisoners in Korea's neutral zone has said all of the Americans and the one British prisoner appear to have firm political convictions.

Interview Sought

The U. N. Command has said repeatedly it will interview any of the prisoners who will leave the compound. But there are only six days left before the Dec. 24 deadline for talking with prisoners who refused to return home.

Allied officers have said there appears to be little hope that interviews with remaining South Koreans and the Americans and Briton will be held before the deadline.

The five-nation Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, of which India is chairman, meets Friday to see if the stalled interviews can be started again.

The Indian command has consistently honored the decisions of prisoners in regard to attending interviews. If captives in the pro-Communist North Camp collectively refuse to attend, the decision will be up to each individual, an Allied officer said. He will have to crawl through the wire and surrender to an Indian guard or stay

First Plane Landing Here Stirred Great Excitement

By MIKE HUBER

Observing that today marks the 50th anniversary of the Wright brothers' first flight, many Marion residents probably recall the event which first put the city on the aerial map.

It was back in 1911, and the thing that did it was the landing here of Cal P. Rodgers while he was making the first trans-continental flight.

IT WAS THE first time an "aeroplane" had ever landed in Marion, and the whole town turned out for the event. In fact, The Marion Daily Star of that day, Sept. 30, reported that if any one "failed to see the intrepid birdman, it was because he was bedfast."

Even business was temporarily suspended, The Star said.

Among the thousands who watched Rodgers' flight and landing that day was Ralph T. Lewis, Marion realtor and an early aviation fan.

"It was a very unusual thing in those days," he says, adding that it was a "great event" in Marion.

LEWIS RECALLS that Rodgers landed southeast of the Marion cemetery in the general area of what is now Vernon Heights Blvd. between Rosedale Ave. and Leetonia Rd.

He also remembers that there were more bicycles and buggies than automobiles at the scene of Rodgers' landing. Even the automobile was a novelty in those days.

Rodgers began his flight in New York on Sept. 17 and arrived in Pasadena, Calif., on Nov. 5. He was in the air a total of 82 hours and 4 minutes.

Rodgers landed in Marion shortly after 12:30 p.m. He had started the day's flight at Tallmadge, about five miles east of Akron, at 9:38 a.m. and had landed his bi-plane in Mansfield for about an hour before continuing to Marion.

HE MADE THE 118-mile trip from Tallmadge to Marion in 105 minutes in the air. That was considered pretty fast traveling in those days.

After making some minor repairs on his plane, Rodgers had dinner at the Pilgrim Inn, now the Milner Hotel, and by 3 p.m. he was in the air again, heading toward Lima and Huntington, Ind.

Today the Department of De-

Ike's Recorded Press Session Sets Precedent

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time in White House history, a recording of an entire presidential news conference was made available last night for use by the nation's radio and television networks.

Release of the Army Signal Corps' recording of President Eisenhower's 33-minute session with newsmen yesterday also set another precedent. It was the first time that newspapers, in their stories on such conferences, were permitted to quote a president directly without limitation.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced the departure from established practice late yesterday. He said Eisenhower called it a "Christmas present" to newsmen and the public.

Hagerty himself described the

Lake Central Stop In Lima Authorized

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Dr. R. B. Stewart, president of Lake Central Airlines, said yesterday the Civil Aeronautics Board has authorized that company to serve Lima, Ohio, on its east-west segment between Kokomo, Ind., and Marion, Ohio.

The CAB's approval was in response to a joint application by the city of Lima and the Lima Association of Commerce, and a formal application by Lake Central Airlines.

Lake Central proposes to serve Lima with two round-trips daily as an intermediate point on the Kokomo-Marion, Ind. to Marion, O. segment. Other points on this segment are Mansfield and Dover-New Philadelphia, O.

Third Pilot Is Missing, Downed Fliers Believe

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Two Lubbock, Tex., fliers who were forced down last night while ferrying two small planes from Lock Haven, Pa., to Columbus, Ohio, reported a third man from Lubbock is missing.

Jack Miller and Dan Burkhalter said they and Kenneth Johnson were flying together when they got lost in a severe snowstorm. They were delivering the new private planes for the Piper Aircraft Corp. plant at Lock Haven.

Miller and Burkhalter landed their planes in an isolated field about 20 miles north of Johnstown. They said they did not know whether Johnson also had tried an emergency landing.

Kidnap Killers To Die Tonight

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Carl Austin Hall's last day of life today was filled with regret—not regret that he kidnaped and killed little Bobby Greenlease, but that his wild gamble for quick riches soured in a drunken spending spree.

A few cells away from him in death row his paramour, Bonnie Brown Heady, was sorry too—sorry that the illicit love affair with wild-spending Carl was broken up in a shocking crime.

The killers die tonight in the gas chamber a few minutes after midnight. They have been pictured as sorry they snuffed out the life of 6-year-old Bobby a few hours after his kidnaping Sept. 28.

Both have written to the multimillionaire Greenlease family in Kansas City asking forgiveness. And both have asked for spiritual counsel in their final hours tonight.

Major Events in Hall's Life Occur on Friday

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Carl Austin Hall, the Greenlease kidnap killer, left the Missouri State Penitentiary on parole last April 24, a Friday, after serving part of a five-year term for robbery.

He came back to the same prison's death row Nov. 20, a Friday, after being convicted and sentenced to die.

And a few minutes after midnight tonight, he dies—on Friday.

State of Union Address Will Be Delivered Jan. 7

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower told GOP congressional leaders today the American people "are looking to the Republican party to continue to enact a forward-looking, progressive program that will serve the welfare of 160 million people."

As Eisenhower began the first of a three days of conferences with the party leaders on his 1954 legislative program, it was announced:

1. The President will make a nationwide radio and television address the evening of Jan. 4, reviewing his administration thus far and outlining broadly the 1954 objectives.

2. Eisenhower will personally deliver his State of the Union message to Congress Jan. 7—the day after the legislators convene.

At today's first session with the GOP leaders, Eisenhower was joined by his Cabinet, other key administration officials, and top White House aides. At the outset the President told the lawmakers:

"The American people have vested in the Republican party the responsibility of government. With

Defendants All 'Confess'

Beria Case To Be Typical Communist Purge Trial

Editor's Note—AP correspondent in Moscow for six years, Tom Whitney left the Soviet Union at the end of last July after covering the news of the Beria arrest.

By TOM WHITNEY

NEW YORK (AP)—The world — Russians included—soon will be treated to the spectacle of one more Communist purge trial in which the defendants abjectly confess to treason.

This time the accused are seven men, four of them Stalin's homeland of Georgia and all veteran police and intelligence executives. Heading them is Lavrenty Beria, who for 15 years ran the dread Soviet secret police and other security organs.

The Soviet government gave them power of life and death over the millions of Soviet citizens and they used it—as every Russian knows—to send many to exile or death. How many the world may never know

Soon they themselves will stand up in a Soviet court and declare that all along they were taking their instructions from foreign intelligence services and exercising their extraordinay powers to sabotage the Soviet Union

This is the meaning of the document published in Moscow on Beria and his henchmen a few hours ago.

It is not clear whether this is the formal indictment against them. It is also not clear yet whether their trial will be held in

Bank Official Talks to Rotary

James J. Harbage, vice president of the Ohio National Bank of Columbus, was guest speaker at the Rotary Club meeting at Hotel Harding Tuesday.

Mr. Harbage told his fellow Rotarians of some of the humorous "Bandit Protection" methods he has encountered during his visits to neighboring banks. "One example of this protection was a trap door behind the teller window," Mr. Harbage explained. "You can imagine the look of surprise on the bandit's face when he saw the banker suddenly disappear before his eyes. The banker didn't seem to care if the bandit stayed, all he wanted to do was get out of there."

Mr. Harbage insisted that a banker must be one who can be trusted with the confidences of his customers. He has to be a man of integrity, he said.

Guests were introduced by George Krohe. Visiting Rotarians included Ralph M. Chambers of New York, James Baldwin of Waterville, and Willis Olsen of Delaware. Guests were Harold Edwards of the Marion schools, Smith H. Witter, who will become business manager of The Marion Star after Jan. 1, David H. Jones, B. R. Prichard and John W. Dowler.

Denmark Slows Verdict on Use Of NATO Force

COPENHAGEN (UP) — Denmark's Social Democratic government has decided again to postpone discussion of whether NATO forces should be stationed on the strategic Jutland Peninsula despite warnings from both inside and outside the country that Denmark's own armed forces are not strong enough to resist aggression.

Observers here said it was possible Premier Hans Hedtoft had decided to wait and see whether Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's victory in the September elections in Western Germany was sufficient to ram through plans for a European army including Germans.

If the Germans got in on a European army scheme, these observers said, Denmark would feel that her southern flank was secure and probably would refuse to allow foreign troops to be stationed on her soil.

Hopes that the Kremlin's "peace offensive" might really be on the level also come into consideration of Denmark's hesitant attitude towards NATO, the observers said. Mistrust of "protectionist" tendencies in United States foreign policy and general disapproval of U. S. internal policies as exemplified "McCarthyism" also were contributing factors in Denmark's attitude, they said.

Most Allied observers here agree that Denmark is looking at the project with a somewhat jaundiced eye. Some Danes appear to think they will be doing the United States in particular and NATO in general a favor by agreeing to let Allied forces be stationed in Denmark.

The real issue however, they say, is that if Denmark refuses, then a general realignment of western defense strategy will take place, with Denmark getting the back seat—which is precisely what far-sighted Danish defense chiefs fear.

Both Allied and Danish military sources have warned Premier Hedtoft that Denmark's army and air force do not have the strength to resist an aggressor at the moment, and that there is little likelihood of their being built up to that strength in the near future.

Maj. Gen. Warren Carpenter, U. S. chief of allied air forces in northern Europe said at the conclusion of recent maneuvers that the air forces of both Denmark and Norway "had a long way to go" before they reached an adequate level.

It is privately agreed among Allied and Danish military experts that Denmark does not have the financial resources to bring the armed forces up to the equipped standard. These experts point out too, that NATO forces are already stationed on Danish soil in Greenland, so that the question of an offense against nationalistic pride does not really arise.

Many Danes are reported to have a defeatist attitude with regard to their country's place in western defense, feeling that Denmark cannot be adequately defended and that intensive defense preparations are a waste of time and effort. It is these Danes, informed sources said, who will provide the main opposition to the stationing of NATO forces here.

Billion-Dollar Trouble

On days when it is tempting to believe Korea now can be put out of mind because it's almost out of sight, evidence to the contrary always can be found in the news.

South Korean President Syngman Rhee was expostulating in Seoul the other day about the way in which United States and United Nations aid was being administered. He said there was a lot of unnecessary traveling and overhead, also too much buying of Japanese goods with money which South Koreans would never willingly let the despised Japanese touch with their unmentionable fingers.

The United States has pledged a billion dollars to rehabilitate South Korea. It has appropriated $200,000,000 to get the job started. Red China, incidentally, has pledged eight trillion yuan to do the same job for North Korea; that is about a third of a billion in dollars.

Meanwhile, President Rhee is giving fits to diplomats who must step around his resistance to everything they propose. His appraisal of the armistice last July never has been revised; he mistrusts it.

As far as he is concerned, the billion-dollar pledge was his price for letting the war stop and he is insisting that he should have something to say about the way the money is spent.

During 1953 a number of matters which had been hanging fire were disposed of permanently. But anyone imagining that Korea can be put away in dead storage is asking for a disappointment in Happy New Year.

George White

When George White was elected to become the 53rd governor of Ohio two decades ago, the state was talking politics in terms of issues presented by Harry L. Davis, Vic Donahey and Myers Y. Cooper.

Martin L. Davey and John Bricker were to come on the scene soon afterward but they were still young men with a future in 1930. Frank J. Lausche and Thomas J. Herbert had futures, too, but no one had begun to be concerned with their possible impact on politics.

The ideas of James M. Cox, Frank B. Willis, Judson Harmon, Myron T. Herrick and George K. Nash were still in common circulation in 1930. After all, this was 23 years ago, when Ohio was still under seven million in population, instead of more than eight million, as it is today. Its bi-annual budget was a minor fraction of a billion dollars.

Gov. White was re-elected to a second term in 1932. After he left the governor's mansion he continued to be one of Ohio's favorite figures in public life — one of the most respected and best loved men of his era. His death in Florida is a reminder to many Ohioans that they and their state have been growing older. George White had panned for gold in the Klondike. He was 81.

Let the Giver Beware

As investigation of charity rackets by a New York legislative committee is bringing to light so much evidence of easy success that the investigators are flabbergasted.

It is just as easy to exploit the generosity of the American people as it seems to be to those who have speculated about it but never tried it. All you have to do is ask for the money.

There are no federal laws to control what is done with it and no state laws; that's why the New York legislative committee is studying charity rackets. They are especially fruitful in New York City.

The best protection for givers who do not have the time, means or inclination to learn for themselves what is done with their donations is found in voluntary organizations of welfare agencies which protect their communities from racketeers by restricting their membership to bona fide organizations.

Even if state and federal laws existed, the best way to separate sheep from goats in the green pastures of American charity is to ask the sheep.

Six Years Later

When Federal Judge Paul Leahy ruled in Wilmington, Del., court this week that a complaint filed six years ago by the antitrust division of the Department of Justice against the du Pont Co. was not sustained by the facts, a few million eyebrows shot up two inches and stayed there.

As a result of the government complaint, millions of dollars have been piddled away by the du Pont Co. and the Justice Department. At the height of the antitrust division's antics in this case, 186 members of the du Pont family, including an eight-months-old baby born two years after the suit started were dragged into the proceedings as co-defendants.

If the facts did not sustain the charges in 1953, they did not sustain them in 1947 when this six-year-long make-work project for the legal profession was put into motion.

In all the antitrust cases so eagerly undertaken by the eager beavers of the New DEAL AND/THE Fair Deal it would have been infinitely less expensive to have found out in advance whether the government has a case that would hold water.

Or wasn't anyone interested in that detail?

Forgotten 944 GIs

By David Lawrence

America and U.N. Silent on Korean War Missing

This is an age of cruel indifference toward some of those human beings who go forth to make the maximum sacrifice for their country.

The story of the forgotten 944 Americans whom the Chinese Communists have refused to return is a tragic example of how officialdom shrugs its shoulders and, fearful of offending allies, does nothing about the American boys who were supposed to have been returned when the Korean truce was signed.

There are 944 of them—separate and distinct from the 22 who have been "brain washed at the repatriation camp.

THESE 944 Americans were spirited away to hiding places behind the Iron Curtain because they are technicians valuable to the Communists. This happened just before the truce came.

The Korean truce agreement pledged that all prisoners should be returned. The American government knew about the 944 and still kept on talking at Panmunjom.

Now the talks are lagging and the "political conference," which was hailed as the great sequel to the armistice, is apparently not to be held—no time or place for it has been fixed, and there is no sign that such a conference will ever be called.

Meanwhile, the United States government—which once upon a time would take drastic measures to secure respect for its troops—now says nothing and does nothing about the 944 Americans still held by the Communists in Flagrant violation of the Armistice terms.

DISPATCHES from Panmunjom show that out of the 944 Americans, there are about 312 from the U. S. Air Force, 19 Marines and three Navy men and about 610 ground troops.

The government here knows a lot about them, and so do the officials of the U. N. Command in the Far East. But the whole thing has been soft-pedaled.

It is as if the American government were afraid to let the people in this country know the facts because some might demand that action be taken.

The facts concerning the prisoners have been gathered from fellow prisoners who have been returned in recent months and from other sources.

Many of the missing Americans are technicians who, under compulsion, can be forced to help the Communists on the instruments of modern war such as are involved in airborne and ground operations.

THE AMERICANS who were returned at Panmunjom have been intensively questioned, and the data gathered in a comprehensive manner. Most of the missing now have been identified. It is known they wanted to come home. The Communists, just before the fighting stopped, took them away from Korea.

Except for an Army communique last September, there has been no official protest or anything said publicly about the matter.

Military men in the Far East refer to the missing men now as a "diplomatic problem."

State Department officials say the missing men are not yet under their jurisdiction, and will not be until it is known whether there is to be a "political conference" to attempt to settle the Korean questions. It's a buck-Passing fiasco.

THE COMMUNISTS doubtless expect to use the missing prisoners as pawns—as a mean of forcing admission of Red China into the U. N., or the withdrawal of United Nations troops from Korea.

This humiliating story is well known in official circles. But there is a callousness nowadays about such things.

The Dulles statement not long ago, confessing that it is difficult to do the right thing for America nowadays because our allies might be offended, was made apropos of criticism that the European allies were continuing to trade with the Communists.

One wonders who long it is going, to be before boys who are drafted are going to ask if they are to be sent to battle in "local wars" and then abandoned.

THE TROOPS that went to Korea were not permitted to use maximum power to win the victory, as recommended by Gen. MacArthur. This was because our allies did not approve.

With all the enthusiasm manifested by so many Americans for the U. N., that organization doesn't seem to care a bit, either, about the 944 Americans held captive and forced into slavery while fighting under the United Nations banner.

The families of the missing Americans do care, however, and maybe some other Americand do, too.

The problem of the 944 Americans cannot be suppressed. It is an example of the moral cowardice of present-day diplomacy in alliances that work only one way—the sending of money and supplies to allies without any reciprocal agreement to defend the rights of American citizens who went to war in Korea in their behalf.

One, Two, Three, Glide

By TRUMAN TWILL

It had been a third of a century since anyone tried to show me how to dance. There was — and still is —something wrong with my power of observation about imatating the movement of another persons feet. How did "power" get into that statement?

I am powerless.

The nice dried-up lady who taught dancing school back home gave up on me early and was content thereafter to let me shove the grubby little girls around the dance floor with no semblance of rhythm or pattern.

The young ladies who thereafter tried to teach me how to perform certain steps for pleasure instead of pay invariably gave little despairing giggles and told me to go ahead and dance my way and theyd follow—if they could.

My way was a blend of jungle and fox trot, using real foxes. There are those who claim they detect a certain primitive rhythm in this and even moonstruck females who have said they detected a subtle savagery and were impressed thereby. But these people probably were over-stimulated.

It was not dancing — not in any formal sense. It was such a thing as you might expect to see in a cleared place in the jungle with Tarzan and his ape friends living it up to celebrate the annual ripening of the coconuts. There was no pattern to it—just a bubbling over of animal spirits. Hic.

So it was with misgiving that Tanglefoot showed up at this shindig the other night where the lady was going to teach one and all how to romp through some of the paces of square dancing. Maybe she had misgivings, too, but on her they didn't show.

As always before, everything the teacher tried to demonstrate was as clear as a pot of fudge. But finally she came to a dance in which the participants walked straight forward and backward, turning right angles every so often and occasionally seizing each other by the middles and whirling about as though being rescued from snakes. This is positively the first dance I ever learned through any kind of formal instruction.

This lady is a genius. She had another dance in which everybody moves about and gets in front of everybody else one at a time and then go patty-cake in pairs. In three minutes, I knew my left hand from my right and was patty-caking as handily as a three-year-old.

It goes to show what can be taught if you stay within the limitations of the pupil. Trying to teach dance steps to tanglefeet like me is as futile as trying to teach a horse to walk a high wire.

But give the horse a chance to jump over a gate and he will make a stab at it. Cats aren't happy in the water, and pigs cant fly.

I cannot learn to dance. People who learn without any trouble refuse to believe this can be true. They never tire of beating their little pointed heads on the stone wall of my tanglefootedness.

But if they'd only settle for something simple like patty-caking, I'd be their devoted pupil. Or walking forward and backward in a straight line, emitting shrieks of "Yoicks' and "Hoy" at every change of direction. Thats for me. The dances they try to teach me are always full of footwork, toe-pointing, mid-sectional writhings and jerking the head.

Next time they try stuff like that, I'm going to show 'em my patty-cake work and see how fast THEY can learn.

Stevenson Builds Up Prejudice Theme

By Raymond Moley

In the course of a relatively short speech at a party rally in Philadelphia, Adlai E. Stevenson succeeded in bringing in fourteen references to the deplorable things that the party now in power is doing to our standing and reputation abroad.

There is only slight reference to our interests abroad, if any. These references, taken as a whole, portray an American in the clutches of selfish and benighted leaders indifferent to their duty to foreign friends.

We, or rather the leaders of Congress, are, according to Stevenson, shocking the sensibilities of foreigners by our disregard of the rights and liberties of our citizens.

LET US EXAMINE two of his charges—the first that we are shocking foreign friends by our intolerance and, next, that we are impoverishing the world by selfish and narrowly conceived trade policies.

Returning travelers, notably those whom Nicholas Murray Butler would have hailed as members of that elite who possess what he called the "international mind," have been telling us for a long time how shocked people abroad are about McCarthyism.

It may well be that these travelers heard only what they wanted to hear, but let us assume that in large circles of opinion-forming people in France and England there is fear and hostility toward the Republican party, especially toward that section of the party which dwells west of the Allegheny Mountains.

TO A LARGE degree this feeling, at least in England, is a reflection of what is being published in certain English newspapers, notably the Times, the Manchester Guardian, and the weekly Economist.

As I pointed out in one of these articles last month, the American correspondents for those papers not only show a bitter bias in appraising American politics, but literally deny their papers a balanced and accurate account of what is happening here.

Considering this inferior quality of reporting, it is not strange that McCarthy, Jenner, and now Brownell have been built into enemies of freedom and traducers of the innocent.

Lord Beaverbrook, who knows the United States perhaps better than any other British publisher, in a reply to an American editor says that the baiting of Americans is confined to the "lunatic fringe" in his country. If that be true, some staid newspapers over there are fit for Bedlam.

STEVENSON'S other argument just cannot hold water. He would have his followers believe: That our tariffs are a serious bar to the economic recovery of the world; That because "our friends and allies" cannot export goods to this country, they are reluctantly driven to trade with Communist countries.

There are more serious bars to trade than our tariffs in the restrictions imposed abroad. There also is the fact that if Britain and France were able to master the art of merchandising a little better, they might have plenty of customers.

In the same breath Stevenson claims that the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act was a great stimulant to trade.

THE FIGURES fail to show any such result, although this Roosevelt-Hull policy has been in force for many years.

If this policy were as beneficial as Stevenson claims, why are our friends and allies now driven to trade with our common enemies?

Of course, this Stevenson speech will be widely read and admired abroad. His friends among the British correspondents who wept bitter ink at his defeat will see to that.

In turn, it will strengthen the very prejudices that he deplores. This is his formula for the growth of international relations.

Gypping Posterity

By FRANK TRIPP

Almost anybody over 50 or so could write this column, about things that kids will never do again. It is addressed more to oldsters than to the young—to you who will remember joys now denied our children.

They'll never see a mile - long circus parade, with rumbling golden wagons, cages of animals from many climes, hundreds of beautiful horses in 8- to 20-rein teams, bands, clowns, equestrians; nor hear the man on horseback warn, "Hold your horses, here come the elephants," or the shrieking coal-fired "steam piano" that marked the end of the gorgeous pageant.

THEY'LL NEVER see a horse-car, many never a trolley, and it won't be long when none will know the majesty of the steam locomotive.

They'll never see a copper-tipped, red-top leather boot, a bootjack, a cast iron tea kettle, a hot water reservoir at the back of a wood chunk range, a wooden wash tub in mid-kitchen for the Saturday night bath.

They'll never see a school slate, a tin drinking cup on the end of a chain at the schoolyard pump; the red welt from a teacher's ruler across a hand that got into mischief.

—:—

FEW, IF ANY, will ever snuggle their best girl under a buffalo robe on a sleigh ride party, or get a kick out of "hopping bobs," a straw ride or that grand old party game, "post office."

They'll never know the joy—or value—of a penny, nor run a half mile errand to earn one. It'll never be a treat to lick the ice cream dasher, or scoop the raw molasses batter out of mom's baking bowl.

They'll never club the trees for chestnuts at the first frost, or brown their skins like Indians with walnut husks.

They'll never crack the dawn with cannon on the Fourth, tip over a Chic Sale on Halloween—or know whether Santa is the guy with ivory whiskers and pink pajamas in front of the hardware store or the skinny one chewing tobacco on the next corner.

The poor kids!

From Our Readers

To The Star:

After reading your article about the good neighbor of East Center St. and his tractor, I want to tell you about our good neighbor on Greenwood St.

He is Charles Cocherl of 509 N. Greenwood St. "Charley" has cleaned our walks for the past couple of years. Either before he goes to work or after work, he walks behind his motor driven tractor to clean the walks of his neighbors and friends for blocks around.

This tractor, being the small garden type, cleans half the walk at a time, which means he makes two trips to clean the entire sidewalk. The snow plow attachment he uses, I think he purchased just to perform this act of kindness.

Don't you think it is "orchids" for our "Charley" too?

Target Practice

The big trend in toys is toward the kind that the child assembles himself, but we can't imagine the manufacturers letting parents off that easy. Our guess is that the things come all put together and have to be laboriously taken apart on Christmas Eve.

Dentists are urged not to mention the word "pain" in front of child patients—it may affect them as unfortunately as the word "bill" does their parents.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Declaration of Independence

When in the course of nearly human events it becomes expedient to dissolve the rules and regulations and to assume an attitude that the other fellow is always wrong, a decent respect for the opinion of mankind requires a Declaration of causes that impel a separation. We hold these truths to be self-evident:

1. That all men are created equal, but that some are more equal than others, all depending on the issue, the numbers involved and the innocent bystander is subject to cancellation TV screen speeches. That the equality of the without notice. That equality, so far as the general public is concerned, is strictly "for the birds," with the geese getting priority.

2. That all men hold certain inalienable rights (when, and if), except as hereinafter noted and good only until punched. Among these rights are life, liberty an the pursuit of impatience, luxuries, more money and less work.

3. We hold that whenever any circumstance hampers these rights, it is the right of any group to slam the door, hurry to the nearest mike, gum up the works, inconvenience his neighbor and deny there are two sides to every story. It becomes the duty of such groups to complicate the situation, add to the economic snafu, make it tough on the man next door, and institute new rules which seem to them more likely to affect their happiness.

The history of the American Way of Life is a history of persecution. To prove this, we cite these candid facts to the world:

The American economic system has made it difficult for us to have more than one car to a garage.

It has made it hard to have a TV set upstairs and down.

It has abolished the old iron stove, the washtub, the wooden icebox, the horse and buggy, the kerosene lamp, the 400-yard trip to the "Chic Sales," and the magic lantern.

We have been restrained in our pursuit of more than two semi-annual Florida vacations per year, the two-day week, better world tour literature, bigger road maps, larger dance halls, and more goose feathers in mattresses.

It has brought about an intolerable situation where now and then we encounter something that can't be done by pressing a button or turning a dial.

The American system has denied to us a station wagon in every family, government babysitting, federal distribution of swimming pools and weekly repair of TV sets at state expense.

It has supplied us with only 50 times the security protection and help which our forefathers were afforded.

It has sent hordes of agents forth to aid us in owning our own homes; it has arranged for 25 - year payments; it has made it possible for us to enjoy all the luxuries of life on the installment plan, but we are still without color TV sets.

These injustices being apparent, we solemnly declare all men free and discontented and entitled to a mediation board in every hassle. For the support of this declaration we pledge our lives, the other fellow's fortunes and our growing sense of suspicion that the other guy is not giving us a square deal.

Now that President Eisenhower has proposed that all the big nations create a pool of fissionable materials and put scientists to work converting the atom bomb into the atom life saver, we suppose Pravda will accuse us of being "healthmongers."

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Murray were stuck up in their Park Avenue apartment and robbed the other night. They were too stunned to say, "Shall we dance?"

VANISHING AMERICANISMS

"I'm going to work ahead of time today."

"It isn't the money; it's the principle."

"What makes everything so cheap?"

"We aim to please."

Ceremonies at Kitty Hawk

U.S. Aviation's Golden Anniversary Celebrated

KITTY HAWK, N. C. (AP)—Aviation celebrated its golden anniversary throughout the world today—but especially here at the place of its birth.

Old friends of the Wright brothers, early-day flying students, relatives, Carolina natives who knew of the inventors, notables of the aviation fraternity, gathered around.

Their one purpose: To pay tribute to Orville and Wilbur Wright, the glider-minded bicycle makers from Dayton, Ohio, who came to Kitty Hawk in quest of good and steady winds.

Other groups in other towns, and in other lands, planned similar gatherings.

The Air Force chose the anniversary to disclose that an American experimental rocket plane, the Bell X1A, flew 2½ times the speed of sound—over 1,600 miles an hour or about 27 miles a minute—Saturday. Maj. Charles "Chuck" Yeager first man to drive an airplane through the sound barrier, was at the controls above the dry lake bed at Muroc, Calif.

The actual hour opening the second half-century of powered flight, 50 years after the Wright brothers' historic feat, was picked by the Navy and Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. for the launching at San Diego of the newest plane in production. It is the R3YI seaplane transport, an 80-ton gas turbine-powered giant said by the makers to be the fastest big flying boat in history with an expected top speed above 350 miles an hour.

In the nation's capital, aviation scientists gathered to hear pioneer airplane builder Glenn L. Martin deliver the annual "Wright Lecture." Also in Washington, tonight President Eisenhower will join 1,200 men and women in honoring the Wright memory at a banquet.

The National Committee for the 50th Anniversary of Powered Flight said about 1,000 Wright day luncheons and dinners are being held around the globe.

Fire Damages Marion House

Loss Placed at $500 Hot Chimney Blamed

A fire resulting from an overheated chimney today caused an estimated $500 damage to the home of Raymond Gay at 309 W. Fairground St.

Central and Mark St. stations firemen were called out at 9:38 a.m. when Mrs. Gay smelled smoke and found the upstairs of the two-floor frame house filled with smoke.

The fire apparently started in the wall next to a chimney used for a heating stove in the living room.

The wall behind and above the stove was burned and the floor and walls on the second floor next to the chimney were burned. All the clothing and other contents of one closet on the second floor were burned, Acting Fire Chief Ora C. Stafford said.

Firemen fought the fire for an hour before it was extinguished. Stafford reported some damage resulted from smoke and water as well as fire.

The loss is covered by insurance, according to Mrs. Gay.

THE MYSTERY IS SOLVED. Retired insurance man James J. Turner, 60, displays the oversize "bird feet" which he made out of linoleum and wood, and used to leave mysterious tracks on the beach near Mantoloking, N. J. community. The tracks attracted hundreds of persons including students. Turner explained that things were dull in the shore resort during the winter and that he left the tracks to give the community a little "fun."

Women Voters Study Problem

Need of Mental Health Facilities Cited

After learning of the need in the Marion area for additional facilities to promote mental health, members of the Marion League of Women Voters are hoping that other local civic-minded organizations will carry on the study they began some two months ago and eventually take some action to acquire those facilities.

League members recently concluded their study of the organization of the State Welfare Department, which included special emphasis on the Mental Health Division, by meeting and discussing the local situation with a psychiatrist and a school psychologist.

AT THE morning unit meeting, Dr. Allen Schmuller, psychologist on the staff of the city schools, was present and answered questions of the group. At the evening session, also held in the YMCA, Dr. Robert Weimer, psychiatrist on the staff of the Smith Clinic, participated in the discussion.

Discussion in the morning session centered on mental health as it pertained to school children and associated problems of juvenile delinquency. Desirability of a child guidance center, where early emotional difficulties could receive attention, was expressed by the group.

Early treatment of emotional illnesses would help decrease more serious cases in later life and help alleviate over-crowded conditions in institutions, the group learned.

THIS SERIOUS overcrowding of institutions is a big factor both on a statewide and national basis, League members learned from their study. They also were told that lack of trained personnel is another handicap faced by most states in the treatment of mental illness.

In the evening session, members learned from Dr. Weimer that there is a great problem of mental health among the older population group. In answer to a question, the psychiatrist said he thought the increase noted in mental illness within the past several years can be attributed to both a greater awareness of signs of mental illness and an actual increase of cases.

DR. WEIMER outlined the steps a mentally ill person would travel in seeking state assistance. Along this line, he explained the structures and purposes of the various state institutions, such as a receiving hospital, a state hospital, and a hospital for the criminally insane.

The rising problems of alcoholism was touched upon. Much can be done to improve and increase assistance available to alcoholics, members learned.

The relationship of parents and children was considered by the group to be an instrumental way of creating emotional security.

Both morning and evening groups came to the conclusion that the addition of a local facility, such as a child guidance center, would be desirable.

—:—

FIELD TRIPS, to local and state correctional and mental institutions are being planned by League members during the month of January.

Mrs. Paul E. Wolf is chairman of the committee which planned the mental health study. She was assisted by Mrs. Henry S. Ruhl, Mrs. Jessie Snyder, Mrs. William Clauer, and Mrs. Doris Maxwell.

Unit and discussion leaders at the morning session were Mrs. John W. Fretz and Mrs. Francis Wanda. At the evening session these duties were assumed by Mrs. William R. Diem and Mrs. Walter Sinden.

Guests at the morning session were Mrs. V. E. Denman of Waldo and Miss Elizabeth Ammann of Marion.

GALION GUESTS attending the evening meeting were Mrs. Esther Hopkins, president of the Galion League, and Mrs. Harold Kay, Mrs. W. E. Lott, and Mrs. Robert Riefseeker.

Marion guests were Mrs. Anne McCuen, Mrs. Carl Meek, Mrs. Robert L. Basinger, Mrs. Robert Craven, Mrs. Elta Larkin, Mrs. Virginia Stevenson, Miss Garnet Laird, and Gloria Shappard.

Witness Thinks Over McCarthy Request She Tell FBI of Spying

NEW YORK (AP)—A woman witness before the Senate permanent subcommittee on investigations has asked for more time to consider a proposal by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R—Wis) to tell the FBI what she might know about communism and espionage

The witness, Mrs. Ruth Wiener Levine, resigned Monday from the Nutley, N. J., telecommunications laboratories after receiving a subcommittee subpoena. She had been cleared by the Defense Department to handle top secret material at the laboratories, which does work for the radar laboratories at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

Mrs. Levine, 35, of New York, testified at yesterday's open hearing that she never engaged in espionage, but she declined to say whether she ever conspired with others in spy activities.

Asked by McCarthy to "name other members of the Communist conspiracy still working" at the Nutley laboratories, she refused to answer.

McCarthy told Mrs. Levine the subcomittee had knowledge she was a Communist, and added:

"It is difficult to understand why a person born in this country and who has lived here can take part in the Communist conspiracy.

"You could do a great service to your country, but a great disservice to international communism, if you would tell what you know to the FBI. . . . ."

The woman and her attorney said they wanted several days to think the matter over McCarthy agreed to give them time.

Ike

that responsibility we have a great opportunity to advance the welfare of our country. Now lets go to work."

The meeting was behind closed doors, but the President's statement was made public by the White House.

Eisenhower told the group he had called the meeting to seek the leaders' advice on the legislative program which he will set out in his State of the Union and budget messages.

The budget and economic messages will go to Congress soon after the State of the Union document. Eisenhower will deliver only the State of the Union message in person.

"I'm very happy to see you and have your co-operation at this time," the President told the GOP leaders.

"We can all look forward to another successful, sound and productive session of Congress. I am convinced—as I know you are—that the people of this country are looking to the Republican party to continue to enact a forward-looking, progressive program that will serve the welfare of 160 million people, and I know we shall succeed."

Senators Gore (D-Tenn) and Monroney (D-Okla), interviewed jointly, agreed there would be Democratic support for that part of the GOP platform which said:

"Our goal is a balanced budget, a reduced national debt, an economical administration and a cut in taxes."

"Those are very brave words the President has uttered and we Democrats will help him if he actually recommends legislation to accomplish that goal," Gore said.

He added there also will be Democratic support for foreign policy moves.

Favor Following Platform

Senators Schoeppel (R-Kan) and Williams (R-Del), also interviewed jointly, agreed that the closer the President sticks to the 1952 platform, the better will be the party's chances for retaining control of Congress in next year's elections.

"If we win in 1954, we are going to have to win on the Republican platform," Williams said. "The people voted for a change and on our promises to cut expenditures, balance the budget and reduce taxes. I believe we can accomplish the goal if we work hard enough cutting expenses."

At a news conference which the White House later permitted to be broadcast and quoted verbatim, Eisenhower said that while he would ask Congress for some changes in the Atomic Energy Act to pass information along to U.S. allies, these would not include authority to transmit "the scientific processes of nuclear fission or building of weapons or building of anything else." He continued:

"But where we are attempting to assure the integrity of a line where we feel that our interest requires us to hold it, it is simply foolish for us to think that we cannot or must not share some kind of our information with our allies who would be dependent upon the same kind of support . . . as we will."

8 Firemen Feared Trapped, 20 Hurt In Fire at Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—At least eight firemen, including two captains, were reported trapped in the wreckage of a small three-story west side hotel which was swept by fire early today.

Nearly a score of firemen were injured after the front of the fire-swept building housing the Reliance Hotel collapsed. Fourteen were removed from the ruins and taken to hospitals. Several others were treated at the scene for minor injuries.

Fire officials said about two hours after collapse of the brick structure that at least eight firemen had been unaccounted for and presumably were trapped in the wreckage.

Only the back wall of the brick building remained standing.

More than 40 tenants, many of them in night clothes, fled into the near-zero weather from the hotel on W. Madison street, near the city's skid row district.

Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Beria

civil war of 1918-20 when he "had established links with foreign intelligence services . . . under the control of British intelligence organs.

"It has been established," the announcement continued, "that Beria and his accomplices carried out criminal measures in order to resuscitate remnants of bourgeoisie nationalist elements in union republics, to sow hatred and discord between the peoples of the U.S.S.R. with the Great Russian people" (the Russians themselves as distinct from other nationalities in the Soviet Union. They principally inhabit the Russian Soviet federal socialist ep ubrihhil,c wc federal socialist republic, which comprises the greater part of the Czarist Russian empire).

Sabotage Charged

The defendants also were accused of attempting to sabotage the country's collective farm system and of interfering with the efforts of the Communist party and governmen to bring about "a steady improvement of the well being of the Soviet people."

The former police chief "selected as his basic method," the statement charged, "slander, intrigues and various provocations against honest party and local government workers, who stood in the path of his intents . . . an obstacle to him in his efforts to gain power. Beria and his accomplices dealt arbitrarily with people who did not suit them, not shrinking from acts of . . . lawlessness."

The announcement was the first official word on Beria since August when the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) confirmed his ouster from the government. Meantime many rumors as to his alleged whereabouts have been heard outside the Soviet Union.

In Washington, American officials expressed surprise that the Kremlin had decided to bring the Beria case back into prominence at a time when a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting apears imminent. The timing seemed particularly unusual, they said, since Beria is charged with plotting to convert Russia into a capitalist state with the help of "imperialist" allies.

New Arrest Revealed

The most startling piece of news in the Moscow announcement appeared to be the arrest and indictment of Merkulov, for years Beria's chief deputy in Soviet police and intelligence afairs. It had not previously been known that he had been removed from his high post of minister of state control.

Merkulov became first deputy commissar of internal affairs shortly after Stalin made Beria commissar in 1938. In this position he aided Beria in the great purge of 1937-38.

Beria had stepped into the job when the Kremlin decided it was time to put an end to the reign of terror waged by his predecessor, Nikolai Ivanovich Yezhov. Beria and Merkulov liquidated both Yezhov and the previous purge boss, Henrikh Grigoryevich Yagoda.

Blind Faith to Stalin

Beria served Stalin with blind loyalty and wrote the official biography of the late Russian chief. As the man responsible for Soviet security, he directed spying and counterespionage activities, watched Red army morale, directed forced labor camps and supplied slave labor to build Russia's atomic power. He also had a key part in developing the Russian atomic bomb.

As police chief he was responsible for the deaths of thousands of "enemies of the people."

Once tabbed by many as the man most likely to succeed Stalin, he fell from power as a result of the internal Kremlin struggle with Premier Malenkov, who charged him with being an "enemy of the party and the Soviet people."

Bus Strike

toward raising the money or starting the repairs by the new deadline, the union likely will strike Jan. 1, Tanner indicated. This is not certain, however, and will depend on conditions at that time, he added.

Repair Cost Unknown

Floyd W. Kreisel, president of the company, said today the cost of the repairs to the busses demanded by the drivers is not known but it may vary from as low as $750 to upwards of $3,000.

The money to be raised by the sale of stock will be used to help the company out of present financial difficulties and "to perpetuate the bus company in Marion," he said.

As yet no definite plans have been made for future operation of the company but Kreisel said, "We may have to revise our entire setup. We may have to curtail some service to put the company on a paying basis. After all, no one will buy stock in a company that won't show a profit."

In Interest of Merchants

Speaking of the plans to sell the preferred stock, Hamburg pointed out that it is in the interest of merchants and manufacturers alike to keep the bus company operating.

Attending the meeting yesterday were: Mayor Harold F. Robinson, Safety-Service Director Ralph Forrest, Jack Lautenslager, assistant secretary of the C of C, Hamburg, John Ryan and James Weir, also of the Retail Merchants Division; Kreisel, Wilbur Poorman, bus company superintendent, Richard Christian, chief mechanic of the company, and Tanner.

Woman Waives Hearing, Is Bound Over to Grand Jury

Mrs. Sarah Dawson, charged with receiving stolen property from a former Montgomery Ward Co. employe, waived preliminary hearing Wednesday in Municipal Court and was bound over to the grand jury by Judge W. Dexter Hazen.

Mrs. Dawson was arrested Dec. 5, along with Lloyd F. Cornwell, 43, who admitted taking merchandise valued at approximately $2,000 from his employer. Mrs. Dawson has maintained she had no knowledge the merchandise which Cornwell gave her was stolen

Cornwell and Mrs. Dawson appeared at their arraignment a week ago in Municipal Court at which time Cornwell pleaded guilty to four counts of grand larceny and embezzlement. He was bound over to the jury at that time. Mrs. Dawson, through her attorney, entered pleas of not guilty to two counts of receiving stolen property.

She was released from the county jail following the arraignment last week upon posting $1,000 bond. Cornwell was released the following day when he posted $5,000 bond.

The grand jury is slated to convene Tuesday.

Allied officers had talked to 250 South Koreans before the interviews were broken off. All chose to remain with the Communists.

The South Korean prisoner interviewed today said the order to stall the explanations before the remaining 77 Koreans were called was made by a 22-year-old Korean who runs the compound.

Kim said U.S. Sgt. Richard G. Corden of East Providence, R. I., and British Marine Andrew Condron are leaders of the non-Koreans.

The leaders maintain contact with Communist headquarters at Kaesong through the camp hospital, he said.

The B29 destroyed eight houses and damaged six as it ripped through the Air Force housing area. The Air Force estimated damage at $150,000.

fense sponsors most of the advances in aviation. But Rodgers' trans-continental flight was a promotion stunt for Vin Fiz, a soft drink of that day.

A private train with private coaches and a portable hangar followed him throughout his trip. He was preceded by three advance men who made all arrangements and promoted both the flight and Vin Fiz.

IN MARION, however, the advance men overlooked a few details. They picked out a farm just east of the fairgrounds as a suitable landing place and marked it off with strips of white canvas.

They forgot to ask the owner's permission, however, and it turned out that he didn't like the idea. According to The Marion Daily Mirror, the farmer, identified as "Uncle Tom" Roberts, gathered up the markings, saying, "I don't want 'em on my place."

Rodgers then had to land southeast of the city.

Lewis remembers that Marion's only previous experience with flight was a year or so before when three balloons passed over the city in a race that had started in Dayton.

Delaware Youth Back From IFYE Trip to India

David Dowler of Ashville and Harold Rittenhouse of Delaware returned Monday from India, where they had been on a trip the last three months as International Farm Youth Exchange delegates.

They are two of ten IFY delegates who visited India under the program. Thirty farm youths from India spent a similar time in America, 10 of them staying in Ohio.

The U. S. group returned to New York, from where they went to Washington to report on their activities and visit the Indian ambassador. After returning to his home state, each delegate will spend several months reporting on his experiences to interested persons and groups. Youths from five states were representd in the project.

move as a first step toward broadening coverage of Eisenhower's news conferences. He said it didn't mean recordings of all future conferences will be released, but that the new practice will be followed "from time to time."

He added: "We are going to try it out and see how it works."

Discussing the step on the radio last night, Ray Scherer, White House correspondent for the National Broadcasting Co., called it "a significant milestone" and "a notable advance."

"You at home can now have a sense of participation in the news conferences," Scherer told his audience.

All major radio networks broadcast the recording, trimmed down to 30 minutes. Two television networks used excerpts against a background of films of previous presidential news conferences. The one yesterday was not photographed.

In the past, newsmen occasionally have been authorized to quote directly a few excerpts from a president's news conference remarks. In such cases a recording of those excerpts sometimes has been released for use on radio and TV.

In general, however, the White House rule has barred direct quotation or use of recordings.

Minor damage resulted in the one accident reported by city police this morning.

The accident occurred on the alley in the rear of the J. C. Penny Co. store and involved cars driven by Helen A. Ridenour, 44 of 450 E. Mark St., and John P. Field, 16, of 201 Jefferson St.

Trial

secret or be attended by certain invited members of the Soviet public and also possibly foreign news men and diplomats in Moscow.

Verdict Certain

These questions don't seem to matter a great deal, for in any case the main outlines of the charges are clear and a guilty verdict is a foregone conclusion.

Most of Moscow's latest document is not new. It repeats the accusations already made last July that Beria plotted to seize power, that he sabotaged government agricultural plans, that he attempted to undermine the Soviet policy on nationalities, that he was a foreign spy.

What is new is the list of men accused of plotting with Beria. On it is one new name of importance—Army Gen. Vsevolod Merkulov, former minister of state security and later minister of state control until Sept 17, nearly three months after the Beria arrest. It was not previously known that Merkulov had been arrested.

Only 2 Big Names

The list of the accused also makes clear that the Beria trial is apparently to be restricted in scope to police executives only, and mostly Georgians, and probably will not involve big names in the U.S.S.R. other than Beria and Merkulov.

Also new in the Beria document are the specific charges that he was an agent for 34 years with Transcaucasion anti-Soviet organizations, one of which allegedly associated with British intelligence. No involvement with Americans is yet charged, though it is certainly quite possible some such charges will be made at the trial.

The Soviet government could, now that the Beria case has waited nearly six months, simply have announced without details Beria's conviction and execution. It could even have said nothing more about Beria.

Propaganda Value

Instead it has decided to make a fairly big thing of the trial. This seems to indicate that the Malenkov government feels it can use his show to make good its charges against Beria, and to gain popularity with the Russians.

That the trial and subsequent execution of these hated policemen will be popular with Russians can be little doubt.

Among other things it signalizes the expulsion of Stalin's Georgians from positions of power, and the return to Russian hands of all organs of high authority in the U.S.S.R.—including now the police as well as the Communisty party and the Soviet army.

Farm Bureau Stresses Crop Salesmanship

Should Be Basis for Farm Aid Program, Convention Believes

BY OVID MARTIN

CHICAGO (AP)—A resolutions committe proposed today that the convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation call for a federal farm-aid program that would stress crop salesmanship as a means of making farmers prosperous.

Less dependence than under present programs would be placed on government price supports. The committee said taxpayers would not finance for any extended time price guarantee programs that would provide farmers a satisfactory standard of living.

Must Join Hands

So, the committee declared, farmers and government must join hands to regain lost foreign markets and develop new ones to provide outlets for American agriculture's expanding productive capacity.

That means, the committee said, the opening of doors to increased imports so that other countries might get into a position where they could buy more U.S. farm products.

In resolutions to be submitted to the convention for adoption at today's final session, the policy-drafters said there was a place for "reasonable" price supports and production control programs in helping to stabilize agriculture.

But they recommended that present war-born high-level price floors be allowed to expire at the end of 1954, at which time flexible price guarantee provisions of the Farm Act of 1949 are scheduled to go into effect.

90 Per Cent at Present

Present support levels for major crops are at 90 per cent of parity.

Under the flexible system, supports would vary between 75 and 90 per cent of parity, depending on the size of supplies. In times of shortage, price floors would be high to encourage production and low in times of surpluses to discourage production.

The committee proposed—at the behest of some cotton and wheat state delegates—a change in the 1949 act which would make the flexible price provision inoperative and put supports at 90 per cent of parity during the first year growers voted production controls following a noncontrol year. But in the succeeding year, the flexible principle would apply.

37 Aspirin Tablets Eaten by Cleveland Twins, 3

CLEVELAND (AP) — The orange flavor of a bottle of aspirin was too much for two 3-year-old twins to resist. They gulped down 37 tablets.

Christine and Constance Greathouse, in bed with colds, grabbed the bottle when their mother left the room.

They were held at a hospital for observation following stomach pump treatment.

Singer Margaret Whiting Tired of Dodging Dishes

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Singer Margaret Whiting says she had to dodge dishes while married to pianist Lou Busch.

She obtained a divorce decree yesterday from Busch, known on his piano recordings as Joe (Fingers) Carr, on grounds of cruelty. She said he told her: "I can't stand you," and threw dishes at her.

They were married in 1950 and separated last March. Miss Whiting was granted custody of their daughter Deborah.

Air Force Secretary Is Speaker at Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Air Force Secretary Harold Talbott stopped here last night to honor the inventors of the first heavier-than-air craft and issued a grim reminder of the airplane's destructive power.

He said the airplane and the atom have given the United States the ability to deal in one instant more fire power than has been exploded in warfare since the invention of gunpowder.

Talbott addressed some 300 persons who gathered on the eve of the 50th anniversary of powered flight to pay tribute to their hometown heroes, Wilbur and Orville Wright.

Two Drivers Arrested

Two arests, both on charges of crossing the yellow line, were reported this morning by the Marion post of the state highway patrol.

Arrested were Alton Wicker, 47, of Marion, Ky., and Warren Watts, 32, of Dayton. Each was fined $10 and costs, Wicker by Justice of the Peace R. R. Bennington of Mt. Gilead and Watts by Mayor Don Healea of Cardington.

'Somebody Miscalculated'

Faulty Estimates Caused Surplus, Benson Claims

MEMPHIS (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today the nation faces serious farm surplus problems because "someone miscalculated our production needs."

The Eisenhower Cabinet's agriculture member called for cutbacks in production of cotton, wheat and other major farm crops in a speech reared for the 20th annual "Plant to Prosper" Farm Forum sponsored by the Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Benson himself remained in Washington to attend White House talks on the administration's 1954 legislative program. He arranged to have his speech read by Asst. Secretary J. Earl Coke.

"Our farm production this year is larger than our markets—domestic and export—will take at prices that are fair to producers," Benson said.

"And with farmers' production costs remaining at extremely high levels, it is clear that some cutbacks in production and some shifts between types of production are necessary."

Benson praised the "Plant to Prosper" forum as a self - help movement of persons "intensely interested in balanced farming, in soil conservation, in gardens for better diets, and in many other aspects of farm and home improvement." He continued:

'We must plant to prosper—not to go broke. If we are to prosper, we must adjust our planting to the needs confronting us.

"This has great practical meaning for your agriculture today here in the Mid-South and South—especially for producers of cotton," he said.

Benson said the "three great needs of American agriculture as the search for new and expanded markets are lower costs of farm operations, better quality of farm products, and agressive methods of improving the whole agricultural marketing system."

He said present farm programs "were largely evolved out of depression and war—and not out of the situation such as now confronts us. We must adopt our programs to changing circumstances we must keep pace with progress."

Tibet is the highest country in the world says the National Geographic Society.

New Chevrolets Go on Display Friday

NEW 1954 CHEVROLETS will go on display Friday at Midtown Chevrolet Co., 203 S. Main St. The new models offer more power, a lower appearance, and the option of automatic transmission in all three models, as well as other optional equipment.

The same series as were offered last year also are featured again in 1954. They are the "150", the "210", and the Bel Air series. A total of 13 different models is available in the three series.

An eight-passenger station wagon is now offered in the Bel Air series, and a utility sedan replaces the business coupe in the "150" series.

Two engines are available in the three series. With Powerglide automatic transmission now optional equipment on all models, the buyer may have either the 115 horsepower engine with standard shift, or the 125 horsepower engine equipped to handle the automatic transmission.

Other optional equipment on the Chevrolets are power brakes, and electrically operated front seat and window lifts. Chevrolet manufacturers claim this car is the first in the low-price field to offer such equipment.

In appearance, the 1954 models have been given a lower look by the curving of the front bumper more around the fender. Grille, bumper guards, parking lights, and hood ornaments have been modified to conform with the design.

Nine new exterior solid colors have been added, bringing the total of solid colors to 14. There are 13 two-tone combinations, including a new ivory and turquoise, and a beige and tan selection.

Under the hood, the engine for for the Powerglide models is the valve-in-head six cylinder model. Improvements have been made which, manufacturers claim, will add to the power and efficiency of the motor.

A new 30-inch muffler replaces the older 16-inch one on the closed body types. With three different chambers, it is said to improve silencing, and aid engine efficiency.

Powerglide transmission is claimed to be improved to provide better high speed performance, and to give additional power when needed in case of emergency such as passing or steep hill climbing.

Same Pattern

By George Sokolsky

If you follow the news carefully, you might believe that the breakdown of the present Panmunjom Conference occurred over the past weekend. Actually this conference broke down before it was convened. It never was a conference. The Communists stated their terms at the United Nations before the conference occurred; they have never receded from that program.

SOKOLSKY

This has been their attitude on all questions. Even when they give the appearance of compromising, of receding, it is a fraud. Sooner or later, they come right back to their original proposition.

-:-

THEY HAVE time. They do not have to meet election days. They do not change their policies as administrations change. They go on without change, orthodoxly pursuing their course of empire.

Therefore conferences with them are meaningless. Our representative at Panmunjom, Arthur Dean, at one stage of his life, was counsel for the Institute of Pacific Relations. He even once threatened that he would sue Alfred Kohlberg for libel because of Kohlberg's insistence that the Institute of Pacific Relations was deeply infiltrated by Communists.

Dean was one of those reasonable men who believed that men of good-will could talk to each other and reach a conclusion that would be to everybody's satisfaction.

Now Arthur Dean knows that he has dealt with minds that know no reason. He has spent weeks with their stony faces; their vile, insulting talk; their joy at being able to twit an American to a loss of temper.

IT GIVES THEM joy because those who have been sitting opposite Arthur Dean have never known either freedom or independence. They have slave mentalities, but having won a war against a great power, they have to show every moment that they are conquerors, that they no longer need to heed the great powers. It is fun for them to insult an American.

And what is more, they know that they are still slaves, only the masters have changed. The Koreans, since 1910, were held by Japan; now they are a small part of the Marxist Universal State.

They are permitted by their new masters to play the role of antagonists, of insulters, of humiliators of the Western powers to whom the Russians, themselves, are somewhat more polite these days.

THERE IS no loss for the Russians at this moment in being slightly more polite than their Chinese and Korean slaves. It is more European, more cultured to be slightly more polite.

And so when the Bermuda Conference dissipates into nothing, the Panmunjom Conference breaks down, perhaps soon to be resumed because the United States has no stomach for being without conferences. Or, perhaps it may be the Russian plan to transfer this discussion from Panmunjom to Berlin.

Why have some Chinese and Koreans in conversation with Arthur Dean, when it is so much more important to have Molotov talk to Dulles? For what is to stop Molotov from asking Dulles, "What about Korea?" And can Dulles say: "Shut up, Molotov, I won't discuss that subject?" That is not possible.

POLITENESS must reign above all else, particularly above reason.

And what is it that broke down the Panmunjom Conference? The Russians want to preside over such a conference. They want to come in as neutrals; that is to attend the conference as the mediators between the United Nations and the Marxist Universal State, which they head.

Had their plans succeeded, they would have been absolved of complicity in the aggression in Korea.

Had their plans succeeded, a member of the United Nations would, in effect, have been able to establish that aggression against the United Nations is permissible, which would reduce the authority of the United Nations still further.

THAT IS WHAT the Russians have been trying to establish at Panmunjom. They failed to achieve this program at the United Nations, having been voted down whenever they proposed it. So the meetings opened at Panmunjom and their creatures reintroduced the same program.

If the conference is reopened, the program will come up again and, if possible, they will raise it again at Berlin and at every conference.

They never give up—because they have a clear purpose and they have time.

(King Features Syndicate)

Pistol Local

By Victor Riesel

So this fellow Harold Bowers, with a record of four arrests on charges of robbery, possession of a gun, grand larceny and congregation with known criminals, gets up at the meeting of the New York waterfront "Pistol Local" the other night and says that he can announce the support of Harry Bridges.

RIESEL

There were 200 longshoremen in the hall at 502 W. 41 St., way over on New York's tough West Side, last Thursday evening. They were the faithful. So they expressed no surprise when Mr. Bowers revealed that he could get funds and even manpower from the West Coast Longshoremen's Union leader who has long been the whip of Sovieteering labor in the U.S. Besides, it's so much healthier never to express surprise.

-:-

THIS IS THE WAY Bowers wants it so everyone just sits and then drifts home slowly after the great expression of working class democracy in parts of the old International Longshoremen's Ass'n, ousted from the AFL.

To explain the poker faces on the dockwallopers at the session, let me acquaint you with a little known "Who's Who," gotten up by the New York State Crime Commission.

Bowers, who spoke with such fraternal warmth of Brother Bridges, was appointed International Longshoremen's Ass'n, organizer for the congested North River docks in July 1951. He still is paid organizer and financial secretary of Local 824, where the men average $50 a week in good years and Brother Bowers earns $15,000—every year.

THE CRIME Commission reported that "He admitted that he has no idea how to be a financial secretary. Dominick Genova, a former member of Local 824, testified that Harold Bowers was a member of a gang in control of the upper North River piers headed by Harold's cousin, Michael (Mickey) Bowers, a convicted bank robber." The federals are now checking both Bowers very carefully.

The rank-and-file of Harry Bridges' union on the West Coast might like to read a gay comment on the Bowers local, published in this gory Whos Who, now a sort of working manual for the Treasury Department and the FBI:

"The Pistol Local (Local 824) had a particularly difficult time safeguarding its books and records. On at least two occasions the books were reported stolen from the local's offices.

THE LAST 'theft' of the records occurred on the very day the Commission served a subpena calling for their production.

"The circumstances surrounding these and other missing records lead to an inescapable inference that the officials concerned feared the consequence of an audit by the Commission."

That's an educated guess.

The Pistol Local also developed a method of probing into the inner minds of its members — and for two decades Bowers' colleagues knew just whom the faithful membership wanted as leaders without even bothering to consult them in advance of nominations. There's an affinity of leadership and membership for you!

BROTHER BRIDGES and his West Coast longshoremen will, of course, be fascinated by the following excerpt from the record:

"Patrick (Packy) Connolly, ILA executive vice-president (of the independent outfit) and president of Local 824 (which seems to be claiming Bridges' support—VR), controlled by the Bowers mob, said there had not been a contested election in that local for years."

As the nation knows, this is the nature of the beast the AFL is attempting to drive off the country's Eastern waterfronts.

YET, BRIDGES, being detailedly familiar with most of this jungle history, wrote as recently as Oct. 2, that the AFL-Crime Commission-New York State drive was a "phony-clean-up campaign . . . nothing but a cover-up for a political maneuver."

"East coast dockers deserve the support of all labor," Bridges wrote in his union newspaper.

Yet, exactly six months earlier, Bridges had attacked these same East Coast dockers. The record of his 10th Biennial Convention in San Francisco proves that. Now we see the man, who is deep in the heart of the pro-Soviet apparatus here, apparently championing the same crowd. And that crowd boasts of his support.

Why did the line change in six months? Who ordered it changed?

Spaghetti With Mushrooms Is Good as It Looks

Something to perk up the lagging appetites is spaghetti with mushrooms. There will be no need to call the family twice to dinner when you serve such a spicy, tempting meal.

Use canned mushrooms and the dish can be prepared in a fairly short time. To prepare, use:

¼ cup fat
1 clove garlic, minced
1 cup finely diced onion
1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet
3 cups tomato puree
½ cup finely diced green pepper
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon rubbed marjoram
6 ounce can broiled mushrooms
8 ounces spaghetti
⅛ teaspoon rubbed Oregano

Melt fat in frying pan. Add garlic and onion. Cook over moderate heat about 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Stir in the kitchen bouquet. Add tomato puree, green pepper, seasonings and contents of can of mushrooms. Cook slowly until sauce is thick, about 30 minutes. Meanwhile cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until barely tender, about 10 minutes. Drain well. Add sauce, toss lightly and serve on hot platter. Accompany with grated Parmesian cheese if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Four Children Die In Pittsburgh Fire

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Four small children perished last night in a fire which gutted the family's quarters in a three-story apartment house in suburban Rankin.

They were Barbara Jean Allen, 6; her sister Carol Anne, 4, and her brothers Dennis, 3, and Raymond, 17 months.

The mother, Mrs. Pauline Allen, tripped and fell down the stairs while trying to carry the baby to safety. Dazed and badly bruised, she groped her way to the door and called for help.

"There was smoke all around," she said. "I couldn't see the children."

Several other families in the building escaped unhurt. Firemen said an overheated stove may have caused the fire.

Bender Says He'll Announce Senate Candidacy Shortly

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Congressman George H. Bender conferred with state GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss here yesterday and told a reporter he would formally announce his candidacy for the U.S. Senate in the next few days.

Should Bender win the Republican nomination, his opponent likely would be Sen. Thomas A. Burke, a Democrat and former Cleveland mayor, who already has announced his intentions to run.

Bender, back in Washington, visited Bliss in City Hospital where the state GOP chieftain is recovering from a virus infection and exhaustion.

"I didn't press Mr. Bliss to give me his support," Bender told a reporter after the meeting. "I merely told him that I wanted to run and that I felt it my duty to let him know about it before I make a formal announcement."

He said Bliss made no decision, "but he didn't discourage me either."

Bender said he plans to confer with other top GOP officials before making any formal announcement.

"I believe," he said, "in working with Republican organizational leaders, and I think I owe it to Ray Bliss to let him know my intentions."

Young Chemist Charged With Murdering Parents

NEW YORK (AP)—A poetry-quoting young chemist was accused today of murdering his parents—to get their $100,000 wealth—by spiking their champagne cocktails with potassium cyanide as all drank a toast to his new job.

The case had been considered a double suicide or a murder and suicide for four months—until a pretty girl started talking.

The son and friend, who reportedly confessed a murder-for-money plot, were booked by police on charges of acting in concert in homicide.

The son, Harlow Fraden, 23, an only child, had moaned to detectives months ago about the deaths of his parents and the deaths of an aunt and uncle who were accidentally asphyxiated.

Bronx Dist. Atty. George B. De Luca said the friend, Dennis Wepman, 20, an unemployed writer, admitted that he and Fraden had planned the murders "for some time."

De Luca said Fraden was uncooperative under questioning about the deaths of his parents, Dr. William Fraden, 50, and his schoolteacher wife Shirley, 46.

Fraden, a six-footer, was seized by detectives yesterday in his $200-a-month room in the fashionable St. Moritz Hotel.

De Luca said Fraden had been living luxuriously on an inheritance from his parents, had purchased a Rolls Royce for $18,000 and planned to go to England to pick up the car.

De Luca said he got this information from Wepman:

Fraden told his parents he had obtained a job and joined them at their apartment to celebrate on the night of Aug. 19. He poisoned the champagne in the kitchen, then returned to the living room for the toast.

Wepman, who also lived lavishly on the slain couple's wealth, stood outside in the hallway. Fraden later admitted him to the apartment.

Dr. Fraden, crawling on the floor, looked up at Wepman and murmured, "Who are you?" Mrs. Fraden apparently was dead by that time, but her son poured more potassium cyanide into her mouth as well as into his father's.

Young Fraden and Wepman left the apartment together, taking along the son's tell-tale glass—untainted with poison—to destroy it.

Two days later, they returned to the apartment together and "discovered" the bodies.

Fraden who studied chemistry at New York University, where he graduated last June, had tested a mixture of champagne and potassium cyanide before the murders—to see whether the poison would be visible.

The deaths were unsolved until an attractive brunette girl friend of Pepman went to authorities.

Wepman had told her of "complicity in this thing," and she became worried about her knowledge of a crime.

De Luca said Wepman told him the murder plot began last July after Fraden's parents reduced his allowance. After that time — a month following his graduation—Fraden quarreled frequently with his parents over his refusal to get a job.

Rep. Hays Urges Action To Combat Recession Trend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Hays (D—Ohio) said today the Eisenhower administration should "wake up to the fact that we are rapidly sliding into a recession."

In a statement, he called on the administration to "do something about it" in the 1954 legislative program discussed at a series of White House-congressional meetings beginning today.

"Talking about preventing depression is not good enough," Hays said. "We must prevent the kind of recession we are sliding into now in which millions of Americans are already getting hurt badly."

He said 300,000 workers have lost their jobs in a month or two, sending a "shock all through the rest of the economy."

Administration leaders, he continued, talk as if they are "completely resigned" to a 10 per cent drop in production. They describe this, he claimed, as an "orderly, or healthy readjustment."

"There is nothing orderly or healthy in an economy of five million unemployed," he said. "Yet that's what we could look forward to if this kind of 'orderly readjustment' is allowed to continue."

Just yesterday, an Ohio Republican congressman, Rep. Ayres, talked with President Eisenhower and quoted the President as saying that the employment outlook for 1954 is "very good."

2 Denied Jobs at Atomic Plant Plan To Appeal

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Two Huntington men, who say they have been refused employment at the Portsmouth area atomic energy plant, will ask the National Labor Relations Board to determine whether they can work at the government installation.

James Gearhart and Prentis Jenkins, members of Huntington Local 521, AFL Plumbers and Steamfitters Union, said yesterday they were refused admission to their jobs which they had held for some time because the local's charter had been revoked by International President Martin P. Durkin.

GI Late for Breakfast, Store Teeth Freeze Up

SEOUL (AP)—The Army planned for months and spent millions of dollars to keep its soldiers warm in Korea this winter but a "cold weather casualty" cropped up today.

A 7th Division supply clerk, Cpl. Rex C. Burdette of Claysville, Pa., slipped into a warm sleeping bag last night and placed his false teeth in a cup of water.

Water and teeth were frozen solid when he got up.

He was late for breakfast.

Death Claims Actor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Death has claimed Hector V. Sarno, 73, stage and screen actor who played early character and feature roles opposite Lionel Barrymore, Norma Talmadge and others. He died yesterday after a long illness.

Low Overhead, No Frills

Top Merchandiser Uses Simple Success Formula

NEW YORK — (NANA) — "Customers are the smartest people in the world."

This package of wisdom, passed on by a merchant father to his son, is the secret behind the phenomenal success of 51-year-old George Farkas, who today runs the world's largest apparel store, part of his department store chain doing a business estimated at close to $50,000,000 a year.

Although launched 25 years ago, six years after his father's death, Alexander's Department Stores, Inc., with two stores in New York's borough of the Bronx and one in White Plains, is really a living tribute to the late Alexander Farkas and his judgment of people.

By never once forgetting his father's counsel, George Farkas built a tiny, under-the-Third-Avenue-'El store into a retail giant which rings up more than 300,000 individual sales each business day. This is only one of the many reasons why he received Long Island University's 1953 award of "Man of the Year in Retailing." Here are some of the others:

The stores' success is all the more fantastic because it was achieved far uptown and miles away from the traditional downtown shopping center of New York City.

SERVICE IN ALL Alexander's stores is at a minimum; there are no charge accounts, no deliveries, no fancy packages.

The store chain makes a fetish out of retail mass distribution of top quality high fashion at minimum prices.

The customers have confirmed this policy time and again. During New York's late August 10-day heat spell, more than 25,000 shoppers jammed into the main store in the Bronx within an hour after the doors opened to help celebrate the store's 25th anniversary. A few days ago, when the new addition to the same store was ready, police had to be called to stop a crowd of 8,000 women shoppers from pushing down the doors long before the opening hour.

George Farkas had to leave school after his father's death to become the head of a family comprising his mother and four sisters. The 16-year-old, in whom his father had instilled the necessity of formal education, had to spend his days working in the East Harlem shop left by his father, but he attended high school and college classes at night.

In 1928 he was ready for the great retail adventure of which he had been dreaming for years. With $7,500, most of it borrowed capital, Farkas opened his first store. Just as it is today, the store's operation was based on the principle of low overhead with no frills. Neighboring merchants were appalled by this business philosophy. They gave the new venture a three-month life expectancy.

TODAY THIS STORE is 20 times larger than the original, having been expanded 33 times. The main store, now the world's largest, has had six sizable expansions. The third unit in White Plains, N.Y., suffers from severe growing pains despite two additions in two years, and already plans for a new $3,500,000 building with indoor parking for 1,550 cars are on the architect's drawing boards.

Farkas is himself an intelligent customer, as smart in his purchases as his customers are in theirs. He buys old masters, and is now the proud owner of a collection which includes a Rembrandt, a Rubens, a Van Dyck, two Jan Steens, a Gainsborough, a Jan Ver Spronk, a Louis Le Nain, a Di Michelino, a Velasquez, a Brower and a Maes. He paid $42,000 last summer in London for the Rembrandt, an unusually good self-portrait. Immediately the painting was insured for $85,000.

The Bronx merchant intends to share his collection with the art-loving public. He has already given one original to the museum of the University of Miami, and others will go to other institutions. Of the Rembrandt, he say, "I'll keep it a couple of years, then give it to some museum. I feel every good picture should find its way to a museum these days."

Supreme Court's Decisions Filed on Two Canton Cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court yesterday refused to disturb a $6,500 award to Virgil F. Mills of Canton for an Ohio Power Co. high tension line right of way across his farm.

The high tension line took about 4½ acres from Mills' 143 acre farm a few miles from the Canton public square. Mills said the appropriation of that land destroyed the value of his farm for allotment purposes. He valued the farm at $85,000. Ohio Power Co. appraisers estimated its value at between $57,000 and $61,500.

Stark County courts awarded Mills $2,029.50 for the tension line right of way and $4,470.50 damages for the rest of the farm.

The Supreme Court also ruled against Sam Parras of 704 Second St., N. E., Canton, who had sued Standard Oil Co. after slipping and injuring himself at a company service station Oct. 16, 1950.

Common Pleas Court had allowed the companys motion for a directed verdict but an appeals court reversed and ordered a new trial. On appeal, the high court reversed that order and upheld the trial court.

Parrots, ostriches, eagles and vultures may live as much as 60 years.

Ike, Republican Leaders Meet To Draft Program

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—For their 20 years out of office—which meant 20 years of not having to take final responsibility for what went wrong—the Republicans were the Democrats' severest critics.

Today, now that it's their turn to hold the bag for any big mistakes made, the Republicans put their heads together to see what they can do.

Republican congressional leaders met at the White House with President Eisenhower to agree, disagree or advise him on the kind of program he will, or they think he should, offer Congress in 1954.

When Eisenhower moved into the White House early this year he was like a tidy tenant with a new broom, a bag of seeds for the garden, and his own personal fire extinguisher.

He went to work with his broom on the Democrats at once, sweeping them out of the nooks and crannies where he wanted to place a Republican. This was not unexpected by anyone, including the Democrats.

And when he saw fires springing up in his administration, particularly some crackling blazes begun by Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin, Eisenhower depended on his own fire extinguisher instead of sounding a general alarm.

He used the extinguisher in the fashion of a man saying to his fellow Republicans: "Come now, gentlemen, lets not beat up on one another. Easy does it. Lets have no hard feelings."

Meanwhile, Eisenhower kept his eye on the national garden, spreading seeds which he hoped would come to flower in 1954 in the form of a program he could ask Congress to approve.

Eisenhower and his Republicans knew that 1954, not 1953, would be the crucial year for them since it is in next November's congressional elections that the voters will pass their first judgment on the administration.

Therefore, looking upon 153 as9 the year of getting ready for 1954. Eisenhower offered some legislation while spreading the seed for much bigger legislation next year.

He used a special kind of seed upon which he seemed to place his main reliance for a good 1954 legislative crop: he sent up one commission after another to study problems he wanted to handle in his program.

The commissions have begun turning in their recommendations and will continue to do so in 1954.

With the help of these studies, the advice of the people around him, and the views of his congressional leaders, Eisenhower will produce his program and will offer as much of it as is ready in his State of the Union mesage, perhaps on Jan. 7.

The White House meetings with the Republican leaders of Congress starting today, will continue through Saturday.

By the variations in their own attitudes and views they may contribute not only light, but also confusion. But it is upon these leaders that Eisenhower must depend for the fight made in the capitol for any part of his program.

Eisenhower, of course, has not laid his fire extinguisher aside, knowing well he may need it badly in 1954 if some of his own Republicans start playing with political matches.

Since intraparty fights might in the end undo all the good done in the eyes of the voters by a good program, as he talks with his leaders today, Eisenhower may be thinking:

"I hope we get through 1954 without explosions."

Charles Knocks Out Wallace To Regain Title Hopes

Floors Him Twice in Final Round; Gets Credit for KO

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lean, mean Ezzard Charles, the former heavyweight champion, was banging at the title door again today following his impressive victory over Coley Wallace last night.

Charles, fighting in the same powerful fashion as when he wore the crown from 1949 to 1951, stoped Wallace just 17 seconds before the scheduled end of the nationally televised 10-rounder.

Although he won in masterful fashion and led from start to finish, Charles' win provided the setting for a hassel over whether he should be credited with a knockout or a TKO.

The No. 3 heavyweight contender dropped his younger rival twice in the 10th round. The first one was for a nine count. Wallace hit the canvas from a right to the jaw. He staggered to his feet and went down again from a right and left to the chin. The time was 2:43.

Referee Frankie Brown did not count over the fallen Wallace. According to California State Athletic Commission rules, it should have been called a technical knockout. Brown, in his report to the commission, said it was a knockout.

Two judges, Eddie James and Toby Irwin, like Brown old-time ringmen, said it was a TKO in their first report but later changed it to conform with Brown's decision.

Willie Ritchie, former world lightweight champion now chief commission inspector for northern California, said it was a TKO but Commissioner Joe Phillips said he would abide by the referee's ruling.

Charles, 32, was in championship form. He proved that experience and top condition can overcome such physical advantages as Wallace enjoyed because of his youth and size. Wallace is 25 years old and stands 6 feet 2. He weighed 201 pounds to 190 for Charles. Ez indicated he is gunning for a title match with champion Rocky Marciano.

Charles dominated the fight from start to finish. Wallace's best round was the second, which seemed fairly even because he managed to crack Charles with three stiff lefts to the jaw.

Charles had Wallace in a bad way in the final frame. Coley was standing up strictly on his nerve and he took a real beating.

Wallace said, "Charles is the best man I've ever been in the ring with. He has everything."

Wallace's manager, Blinky Palermo, went even further:

"The way Charles fought tonight he can lick any heavyweight living. Wallace is still young and we know he is a comer."

Sportswriters Glad 'Platoon' Football Gone

Limited Substitution Approved by Most Participating in Poll

By HUGH ULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—The decision of the college football rulemakers to switch from "platoon" football to limited substitution received a hearty vote of approval today from the nation's sports writers and broadcasters.

But there were enough differences of opinion reflected in the ballots of more than 300 newsmen participating in the Associated Press postseason poll to indicate that heated arguments likely will continue all winter.

The NCAA Football Rules Committee will meet in Sarasota, Fla., Jan. 11-13 to consider the effects of the rule change made a year before and to decide whether it will be retained, modified or abandoned.

The votes of 123 football writers and broadcasters say "keep it," although 10 of these proposed modifications of one sort of another. There were 59 negative ballots, 6 suggesting a compromise of some sort and only 14 whose opinions weren't definite one way or the other.

A few of the experts admitted they liked the single-platoon game because it made covering football easier. A good many more said the public liked it better and could follow the game more easily with only one group of players, instead of two, in action.

From there on the opinions were as emphatic as they were divided and, to some extent the same arguments were used on both sides. It was claimed, for example, that the limited substitutions helped the smaller colleges financially and gave them a better chance of beating the big teams. And it also was claimed that the rule had failed to accomplish its purpose in helping the small schools.

One school maintained that the 1953 two-way football was faster and more interesting. The opposition maintained it was slower and dull.

Many of those opposing limited substitution said it increased the number and severity of injuries. Others claimed there had been no increase. A couple, favoring the one-platoon system, said they'd change their minds if it could be shown that more players were hurt.

Minority proposals were that rules for high school, college and professional football should be standardized and that free substitution should be permitted but squads should be limited—usually to 33 men—for any game.

'FANCIER THAN SOME.' Track star Mal Witfield holds a silver ash tray which he described as "fancier than some I got" during last summer's European tour with an American track team. The National AAU announced it was investigating alleged violations of amateur rules on the tour by Whitfield and miler Wes Santee. A regional AAU official, Larry Houston, said after an interview with Whitfield in Los Angeles that he believed Whitfield was completely in the clear.

Toledo's Star Takes Mound Laurels in AA

CHICAGO (AP)—Gene Conley, big righthander for the Toledo Sox, swept nearly all pitching honors available in the American Association last season, official statistics showed today.

Conley, 6-7, 225-pounder, led the league in earned-run average with 2.90; had the best won-lost percentage, .719; won the most games, 23, while losing 9, and struck out the most batsmen, 211.

He also pitched the most innings, 261; started the most games, 24; faced the most batters, 944; hurled two 1-hitters, one 2-hitter, three 3-hitters and one 4-hitter.

In compiling his 23-9 record, Conley included a 7-game winning streak. This, however, was topped by an 8-game string by Kansas City's Mel Wright that was still alive when the season ended. Wright appeared in 111 innings for a 13-2 record and an ERA of 3.21.

Other noteworthy performances during the season were by Ray Moore of St. Paul, who fanned 18 Minneapolis batters in a nine-inning game on Aug. 18, and Al Cicotte of Kansas City, who walked 13 batters in nine innings May 7.

Ken Holcombe of Louisville, former Chicago White Sox pitcher, was second to Conley in the ratings for pitchers in 154 or more innings, Holcombe had 10-8 in 154 innings and an ERA of 2.98.

Holcombe and Conley were the only hurlers working 154 or more innings with an ERA under 3.00.

Morral, Meeker To Meet

Unbeaten Teams Clash In County League Game

The list of teams unbeaten in Marion County League play will be sliced further with completion of action on county courts this Friday.

Morral and Meeker, two of the three remaining undefeated outfits in county league basketball play, clash in the key game of a five-game program.

Morral is currently the pace-setter in the county league race with three straight wins. The Meeker squad, the best one from out of that school in many years, is tied with Prospect for second spot in the loop. Both have 2-0 marks.

Meeker and Prospect both stayed in the running for the league championship last week in upsetting last year's county leaders. Meeker edged Waldo, defending league titlists, while Prospect upset Claridon, last year's county tournament winner.

While Morral and Meeker clash on the Meeker floor, Prospect will be seeking its third straight victory in a game at New Bloomington.

Bob Kelly's Prospect crew and Vern Hensel's Morral Wildcats are expected to post wins which will keep their county league records marless. These two teams do not clash until late in the season.

In another game, Waldo, 2-1, is at LaRue. The host team, with a 1-1 mark in county league competition, and the visitors will be battling for third spot in the league.

Caledonia is at Pleasant and Martel at Green Camp in the remaining county league contests. Caledonia and the latter two squads will be seeking their initial league wins of the season.

New Blomington and Caledonia will be in action again Saturday night. The county league tilt is scheduled on the Caledonia floor.

Pro Football Enjoys Record Season at Gate

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An estimated 2,000,000 fans saw National Football League games this year in what Commissioner Bert Bell describes as "the greatest season in our history."

The million dollar coast-to-coast television project inaugurated by the NFL this year, Bell said, "created thousand of new fans."

'I think TV is terrific," the stocky, gravel-voiced Bell added. "The more we have the more I like it."

The attendance set a new mark. The old record of 2,052,126 was established last season. Official figures for 1953 will be disclosed at the league's annual meeting here Jan. 28-30.

Bell said the league expects to stand pat on major rules at the annual meeting. One rule might go out the window, however—the one which permits a ball-carier to get up and run again after he is tackled.

"We may consider making the ball dead when any part of the body, except the hands and feet, touch the ground," Bell explained.

3-Game Card

YMCA Industrial League Teams Meet Independents

The YMCA Industrial and Independent Basketball Leagues opened the 1953-54 season Wednesday night on the South gymnasium with a three-game card. UAW-CIO, Green Camp Elevator and the Ashley Merchants were victorious in the first outings.

UAW bumped the Waldo Merchants 44-35 in the opener of a low scoring fray. The winners held an 8-5 first quarter lead and after moving to the front at half time by a 22-16 score, were never pressed throughout the remainder of the game. Bob Richie who had 14 points for the CIO crew, pumped ten of his total through the nets in the first half. Frank Jessie had 12 points to lead the losing Waldo team.

Green Camp Elevator raced to an easy 71-38 victory over Raymond in the second game of the evening. Berl Hilbourne and Don Hensel with 20 and 14 points respectively paced the former Independent League champions to the first league win, as five of the six Green Campers to see action hit the double figures in scoring. Green Camp led by a 31-15 count at the half and turned it into a rout in the final two periods.

McMillen Feed led the Ashley Merchants through most of the first quarter but fell before the fast Ashley Merchants 52-28. Howard, former Ashley High School star, led the winners with 20 points, 15 of them coming in the final eight minutes of play. Hershey broke McMillen's lead in the first half by pushing in 12 points on set-shots from out sde the foul circle.

The YMCA's two Basketball Leagues which are crossing play this season resume action again next Monday evening.

Seixas Drubbed In Interzone Finals

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Jacques Brichant, a 23-year-old automobile salesman, sent United States Cup hopes plunging downward today when he defeated Vic Seixas, 6-3, 11-9, 2-6, 6-1, in the second singles match of the U. S.-Belgium interzone finals.

It was not so much the fact that Brichant defeated Seixas that bothered United States Capt. Billy Talbert. Rather, it was the effortless manner in which he turned the tricks. Seixas defeat took all the joy out of Tony Trabert's 6-4, 6-2, 6-4 victory ofer Philippe Washer in the first match.

Tom Pagna Won't Play In Blue-Gray Contest

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Tom Pagna, star Miami University halfback, said last night he would not play in the annual Blue-Gray football game at Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 26.

Pagna suffered a leg injury in Miami's final game against Cincinnati on Thanksgiving Day and was hospitalized for two weeks. He said he had not yet fully recovered.

Bob Kurland Paces Aggies To Victory Over Oklahoma

NEW YORK (AP)—The Oklahoma A&M cowboys, perennial contenders for national basketball honors, appeared today to have come up with their best big man since the days when Bob Kurland, the seven-foot redhead, roamed the Midwest prairies.

The Aggies have been beaten once—by a single point at Minnesota—in eight starts this season, and in almost every victory big Bob Mattick, a 6-foot-11 giant, has been singled out for praise.

It was Mattick in the starring role again last night as A&M turned back their deadly rivals at the University of Oklahoma 65-46. He scored 25 points, tops on both teams, but it was his great rebounding that made the big difference.

Hank Iba's teams always play possession-style ball and with a man who can get the ball off the boards for them regularly they are tough to beat.

Kansas, last season's Western NCAA titlist, won its first game of the campaign 72-61 over Tulsa after two setbacks on a Southern trip. Center B. H. Born, playing with a sprained ankle, scored 22 points.

In the East, Togo Palazzi paced Holy Cross to a 101-64 triumph over Colgate with 29 points. It was the Crusaders' 42nd consecutive home victory.

Ninth-ranking Fordham, classed as one of the powers in the East, got a real scare against City College of New York, finally pulling out a 53-51 decision on a driving one-hander by Alan Larkin with 10 seconds to play.

Niagara showed its best form so far in overpowering Syracuse 90-62 as it brought its record up to 5-1. Charlie Hoxie scored 21 points. Cornell opened its Ivy League competition by beating Harvard 64 53 for its fourth straight victory.

Using All America Tom Gola as a decoy to break up a defense in the first half, La Salle of Philadelphia whipped Lafayette 88-70. Navy won its fourth in a row, beating Columbia 78-52.

In Southern Conference games, George Washington trounced Virginia Tech 93-55 and Virginia Military rallied to overcome Davidson 69-59.

Xavier of Cincinnati beat Villanova 81-73 and Penn swamped Swarthmore 84-54 in a Philadelphia double-header.

In the Southwest, Texas Tech edged Texas A&M 58-55 and New Mexico defeated New Mexico A&M 58-38.

ALERTED TRIES AGAIN

MIAMI (AP) — Last winter at Hialeah race track, Alerted made his second try for the rich $100,000 Widener but lost to Oil Capitol. Alerted is now at Hialeah for a third try at the big race. He arrived from New York after completing more than 10,000 miles of traveling in two seasons.

Game in Marion Will Open Buckeye League Title Chase

Harding will be at peak strength tomorrow night when it entertains Bowling Green in a contest that starts the Buckeye League title race.

Gene Armstrong is expected to see action after being sidelined first with tonsilitis and then with a sprained ankle. Joe Snouffer is also back after nursing a football shoulder injury.

Coach Jim Lawler plans to use his regular starting lineup against the Bobcats. He will be starting Ron Conroy, 5-8½, the team's high-scorer with 86 points, and Don Smith, 5-7, in the guard slots.

At the forwards it will be Doug Bibler, 5-7, and Bob Hamor, 5-11, the second ranking scorer with 62 points, Dave Schnelker, 6-2, will be at center.

During the past week, Lawler has spent a lot of time drilling his charges on defensive work. The Prexies use a shifting man-to-man with a forecourt press on defense, a fast break on offense.

Harding will be out to get back in the win column after being knocked off by Columbus West 74-71 last Friday. Previous to that the locals had won four impressive victories, knocking off Bexley 61-47, Galion 72-38, Willard 96-35 and Columbus Aquinas 66-57.

Bowling Green has lost only one of its three starts this year. That was a 62-55 loss to Bellevue. In other contests, the Bobcats downed Toledo Clay 54-51 and Toledo Whitmer 57-50.

Forward Jerry Buckles, 6-0, is Bowling Green's big gun with 42 points in three contests. Right behind him is his fellow forward, Phil Ward, 6-2, who has 39. Another man to watch is a sophomore guard, Joe Soffios, who has tallied 35 points to rank third in team scoring.

In the reserve tilt the Vice Prexies, like the varsity, will be out to start winning again after Columbus West broke their four-game win streak.

The reserve lineup will probably have Lowell McFann and Dave Lockwood at the forwards, Lowell Carlisle at center, and Harold Jones and Keith Thackery at the guards.

Spartans Get Big Welcome

Squad Set To Begin Practice Tomorrow

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The warmth of the California weather and welcome left the Michigan State football delegation a little groggy today.

The Spartans, just becoming acclimated after plane-hopping here from snow-bound Michigan, were not due to get down to real work for the New Year's Day Rose Bowl game with UCLA until tomorrow.

Today was "Press Day" for Michigan State, as the squad went on display for the photographers and newsmen.

Meanwhile, Coach Biggie Munn outlined his tentative West coast practice plans.

The squad will hold both morning and afternoon sessions tomorrow and Saturday with a scrimmage expected Saturday afternoon.

UCLA scheduled a routine practice today and was to have an off-day tomorrow.

The MSC squad received a Hollywood-type welcome as a band and high-stepping, bare-leged baton-twirlers greeted the team outside the Hotel Huntington, official team headquarters.

Munn, grinning his appreciation, danced a little jig to the music.

"We're sure glad to be here," said Munn. "We've waited a long time and really worked for it."

LaRue Coach Elected Head of Six-Man Loop

Double-M League Sets Up Schedule, Plans Sept. 17 Clinic

Annual organization of the Double-M Football League held recently in Mt. Gilead resulted in the election of Ted Dennison, LaRue coach, as president of the group.

Other officers are Charles W. Ogg, Johnsville coach, vice president, and W. A. Spires, Chesterville school superintendent, secretary-treasurer.

The financial sheet presented showed a balance of $141.55 for the banquet and trophies to LaRue and Claridon, who shared the Double-M League title the past season, and to Chesterville, runner-up.

Schedule Drawn Up

Schedules for the teams in 1954 were set up, with the Double-M clinic scheduled for Sept. 10 at Caledonia and the opening league game for Sept. 17. Drawings for the clinic resulted in LaRue matched with Chesterville, Claridon with Marengo, Sparta with Caledonia and Johnsville with Waldo. Each team plays a 12-minute game.

Discussion pertaining to football rules took up most of the remaining time. A resolution to clear a space five yards from the sidelines during games was unanimously passed. The group also decided to keep the admission prices for games at the present level of .30 and .60 cents.

Coaches and superintendents directed attention toward changing to eight-man football but it was agreed to continue the present six-man system. Discussion was also held on the down-field blocking of a pass receiver and on the eligibility of a passer. The coaches agreed that after a clear pass from the quarterback, a back was a runner until his motion proved otherwise. Also discussed was the question of six-man football officials studying the rules.

All schools were represented at the meeting with the exception of Marengo.

The Double-M League football schedule as announced includes:

Sept. 10—Clinic at Caledonia; Sept. 17 — Waldo at Johnsville; Sept. 24 — Marengo at Claridon, Caledonia at Johnsville, Chesterville at Sparta, LaRue at Waldo; Oct. 1—Chesterville at Caledonia, Johnsville at LaRue, Sparta at Marengo, Claridon at Waldo; Oct. 8—Sparta at Claridon, Caledonia at LaRue, Marengo at Chesterville; Oct. 15—Claridon at Chesterville, Johnsville at Marengo, LaRue at Sparta, Waldo at Caledonia; Oct. 22—Claridon at Caledonia, Marengo at LaRue, Sparta at Johnsville, Chesterville at Waldo; Oct. 28—Johnsville at Claridon, Caledonia at Marengo, LaRue at Chesterville, Sparta at Waldo; Nov. 5—LaRue at Claridon, Caledonia at Sparta, Johnsville at Chesterville, Waldo at Marengo.

Fraser Reported Being Considered For Fesler's Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Columbus Dispatch said today Glenn Fraser, 46-year-old football coach at Ohio Wesleyan University, is being considered as a possible successor to Coach Wes Fesler at the University of Minnesota.

Fesler, former Ohio State football coach, recently announced he will resign the Minnesota post in February to become a partner in a radio station.

Fraser said it was news to him his name is being considered. He was born in Virginia, Minn., and was graduated from Minnesota in 1929.

During his 7 years at Ohio Wesleyan his teams have won 48 games, lost 13 and tied 3. Only 2 of the losses were to Ohio Conference foes. Wesleyan won the conference championship this year with 8 wins and 1 tie.

Fraser coached at Cleveland Lincoln High School for 10 years before coming to Wesleyan, winning 6 city championships.

Athletic Chief Calls It Quits at U. of Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — George (Potsy) Clark, who came to the University of Nebraska as head football coach and stayed on as athletic director, said last night he is through at the Cornhusker school.

There has been dissatisfaction among some Nebraska fans and alumni at Nebraska's athletic showing since World War II. Last season the Husker team won three games and tied one of its 10 game schedule.

Clark said he was quitting "at the pleasure" of the university athletic board rather than make his job "an issue."

A veteran of some 40 years in athletics since he played football for Illinois prior to World War I, he has more than once spoken out against professionalism in college athletics.

Announcing his resignation he said in too many instances amateurism has disappeared from the field of college sports, particularly football, and the fun has "been taken from the game for the boys."

Clark said he felt Nebraska's athletic program was sound.

Drawings Held for Holiday Tourney in Local Coliseum

St. Mary will meet one of its arch rivals, Elm Valley, in opening night play of the annual holiday basketball Carnival at the Coliseum Dec. 28 and 29.

In the other first round game, Radnor will meet Lexington, defending Carnival champion.

The following night, the first round winners will face off for the title with the two losers meeting in a consolation game.

Drawings for the holiday classic, sponsored by St. Mary, were held at the Hotel Harding last night at a dinner-meeting of representatives from the four participating schools.

On each of the two nights, the first game will get under way at 7:30 with the second contest starting about 9.

The Carnival winner will receive a trophy and the runner-up will get the ball used in the championship game.

TRAVELING HOCKEY PLAYERS

Lexington got into the finals by squeezing past Elm Valley 47-46. It was Elm Valley over Radnor 42-31 in the consolation match.

BAYLOR GETS TRAYLOR

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Baylor has snared the boy they call the greatest quarterback and the greatest passer in Texas schoolboy football history. And from the home town of the top college and professional passer — Slingin' Sammy Baugh — Doyle Traylor goes to Waco and to Baylor. All the colleges were after him, but Dandy Doyle was deliberate in making up his mind. He waited until baseball season was over and school was out. Then suddenly he announced that Baylor was his choice and in the ranks of the Golden Bears there was joy and shouting. Next fall Baylor will have a veteran backfield, including a top quarterback, Cotton Davidson. But in 1954 all will be gone. And Baylor will need a quarterback of the Doyle Traylor stripe.

Robinson, 'Old Pro' of Trotters, Ready for Marion Appearance

"The Old Pro" of the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team will be in the lineup against the Philadelphia Sphas at the Coliseum here Friday.

He's Ermer Robinson, the quiet and modest forward whose actions on the court speak for him. "Robby," a great all-around player and one of the best shots basketball has ever known, is making his eighth season with the Trotters one of his finest. He's already established as an all-time, all-star Globetrotter forward.

The one-hand push shot artist started his career as a standout prep in his home town of San Diego, Cal., and then gained national recognition with Fort Warren's basketball team while in the service during World War II. Among his feats at that time was the setting of a National AAU Tournament scoring record at Denver.

After military service, Ermer immediately became a Globetrotter and has been a standout ever since. The six-foot, two-inch, 190-pounder is at his best when the pressure is on. That's where the "Old Pro" label, affectionately tagged on him by his teammates, comes in. The more important the game the more "Robby" sparkles.

Never-to-be-forgotten in his sensational one-hand shot from out near mid-court in the last seconds of play that won the Globetrotters' first game of their famed series with the Minneapolis Lakers.

Robinson, whose play scintillated throughout, also was voted by sports writers and aircasters the most valuable Globetrotter in the 1953 transcontinental World Series against the College All-Americans.

Completing Friday's twin bill is the opening game between the Washington Generals and Toledo Mercurys. Tickets are now on sale at Henney & Cooper's and the National City Bank.

Byrd Also in Deal With A's

Yanks Get Robinson in 11-Player Swap

NEW YORK (AP)—"This will open the floodgates. The other clubs will have to scramble now."

A big grin on his usually expressionless face, George Weiss, general manager of the New York Yankees, made the comment after the world champions had acquired sluging first baseman Eddie Robinson and workhorse pitcher Harry Byrd in an 11-player trade with the Philadelphia A's which included some promising rookies from the Yanks' Kansas City farm.

In return for Robinson and Byrd, who figure to strengthen the Yanks immeasurably, the New Yorkers gave three players they can easily spare—Negro outfielder-infielder Vic Powers, outfielder Bill Renna and first baseman Don Bollweg.

Powers, leading hitter in the American Association with Kansas City last year with a .349 average, was the "key man" in the deal for the A's, the Yankees said. Renna and Bollweg were just utility players with the Yanks.

Even with the addition of Robinson and Byrd, the Yanks indicated they have no intention of standing pat with a four-aces hand in their drive for a sixth straight pennant and world championship.

"We're in the market for a pitcher, said Weiss. He still had the cat-ate-the-canary look on his face today after announcing the big trade Wednesday.

No cash was involved, the Yanks said, except for the return of $25,000 to the A's for their purchase of third baseman Loren Babe last April. Babe was sent to Kansas City as part of the sweeping transaction.

The other players the A's got in the deal were:

From Kansas City: catcher Al Robertson, 25, who hit .278 at Kansas City and .264 at Syracuse last year; right-handed pitcher John Gray, 26, with a 9-7 record and 4.15 earned run average; third baseman Jim Finnegan, 25, .303 at Binghamton of the Eastern League last year.

Babe, 25, .230; first baseman Tom Hamilton, 27, .196; and 3outfielder Carmen Mauro, 27, .255 with Washington and Philadelphia.

Robinson, a long-ball hitter who was 33 Tuesday, will vie with Joe Collins for the first base job and help fill the gap left by the retirement of pinch hitter Johnny Mize. The veteran from Baltimore hit only .247 last year but clouted 22 homers and drove in 102 runs. A left-handed swinger, he'll have an inviting target in the Yanks' 297-foot right field wall.

Byrd, 29, Rookie of the Year in the American League in '52 when he had a 15-15 record with a 3.32 earned run average, tailed off last year. He wound up with an 11-20 record and a 5.51 ERA mark.

Bollweg, 31, hit .297 in 155 times at bat, while Renna, 27, had an .314 average in 121 trips to the plate.

"We strengthened ourselves in the departments we needed help in most," said Weiss, "but the A's got a lot of good, young ballplayers which they need for their rebuilding.'

'It is a good start toward the beginning of a faster, younger better defensive team that will bring the club into the first division,' said A's Vice President Earle Mark in Philadelphia.

Power, 24, and another Negro, outfielder Elston Howard, both were called up from Kansas City by the Yanks. They were the first Negroes signed directly to the New York club, Weiss said Howard definitely will report to the Yanks' spring training camp at St. Petersburg.

Counterfeiter Doing It For Fun, Agents Told

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Ellis J. Aylward, a photoengraver who is fascinated with his work, yesterday pleaded guilty to five counts of counterfeiting.

But he indignantly denied he planned to spend the $80,000 he had half printed when Treasury agents nabbed him. Just did it for the heck of it, he contended.

FIRE PREVENTION

EAST GRANBY, Conn. (UP)—Afraid that long grass on his property was a fire hazard, Walter S. Rollins set it ablaze to get rid of it. He did—also lost a $2,000 barn.

TURNPIKE PROBLEM

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The City of Elyria yesterday told the Ohio Supreme Court acquisition by the Ohio Turnpike Commission of city-owned sites for a bridge over Black River probably would rule out a parkway proposed to relieve Elyria's crosstown traffic congestion and the turnpike would block city expansion under a master plan. Contending that alternate routes are available for the Northern Ohio Turnpike, the city asked the court to deny a commission request for an order requiring Elyria to say where utility and sewer lines and a street should be re-located to permit turnpike construction.

Fur Sales Off; Working Girls Top Customers

So low that mink, once the fur of the Four Hundred, now is warming the shoulders of the white collar girl.

Howard Fox, president of I. J. Fox, the nation's largest retail furrier, said mink is being "purchased largely by the working girl and what I call the successful housewife."

The mink they buy may not be the caliber owned by Mrs. Astorbilt, but it's mink — soft and dreamy, and good for 10 years or so of glamour and warmth.

Sales of furs are off sharply, and many furriers in desperation are selling mink at new low prices. A girl now can by a natural ranch mink stole or cape-stole for $295—a bargain if you consider it for the long haul.

Furriers say mink is good for 10, 20 or 30 years, depending on the quality of the original skins, the workmanship which went into the garment and the care the wearer gives it.

Government figures on excise tax collections show fur sales off from last year.

One leading furrier estimates sales are down 10 to 15 per cent.

"The paradox of the industry is that mink is the only fur selling," said E. R. Harrowe, of Fur Age Weekly, a trade publication.

The industry gives three major reasons for lower fur sales. One was the unseasonably warm weather of fall which discouraged purchases. Another is the 20 per cent sales tax, which one furrier said, "sends a woman out to buy a cloth coat where there's no tax."

And another reason seems to be one the furriers have helped create. Women aren't buying the highest priced fur items—the full length coat. They satisfy their desire for fur with stoles, capes, ascots, collars, muffs and other bits and pieces in greater supply than ever before.

Harrowe said the industry, by offering touches of mink, "is taking the edge off a woman's appetite for bigger things."

Leo Ritter, head of Ritter Brothers, a high-style house in Manhattan, agrees with Harrowe. A woman, he says, is not likely to spend $4,000 to $10,000 on a full-length coat when a cape costs one-fourth as much.

Another furrier, Aaron Reiss of Reiss and Fabrizio, conceded that shorter items are the best sellers. But he doesn't blame the industry.

"If a woman wants a fur stole or just a muff," he said, "It's up to us to supply it. It'd be silly to go on making coats when they don't want coats."

Product of Corn Gives Latest Sweater Fabric

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP)—Today's sweater girl like as not is wearing a product made from corn.

A new fiber made from the protein of the grain is being used for sweater material, says Edna R. Gray, University of Illinois clothing specialist. The fiber is similar to wool in warmth, absorbency, appearance and texture. Miss Gray says it won't irritate the skin of persons who are allergic to wool, and it is almost entirely free of static electricity.

Blended with nylon, it contributes softness and absorbency. It is mothproof and needs no special care in washing.

But the main advantage is its relatively low cost.

SANTA and the FLYING PUP

By LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

AP Newsfeatures

The Dreamlins, Mr. Not Much and Mr. Very Little, warn Willie there are dragons running loose in Santa's Train Shop. They flee, but Willie bravely decides to fight the dragons thinking this may qualify as an unselfish deed and enable him to fly. He goes to the Train Shop and manages to make the dragons smash themselves on the floor.

CHAPTER 13

The awful noise in the Train Shop brought Santa and his workers racing to the spot.

What they found was Willie the pup and the wreck of all the toy trains in Santa Land.

"I did it!" cried Willie proudly. "I destroyed them all!"

"Willie, Willie!" mourned Santa. "What will I do now for all the little boys who have asked for trains for Christmas?"

"Trains?" said Willie. "Trains But—I thought—I thought they were dragons!"

It was a sad thing. Willie turned away. He didn't even try to see if he had earned the right to fly. "It's no use," he thought. "I always do the wrong thing."

Santa himself was thinking the same thing. "I shall have to send the pup away," he thought. "He means well but he is always causing trouble. I have so much work to do and besides that I must arrange for the rescue of the Dreamlin queen."

—:—

NOW SANTA had made a magic pill. If the Dreamlin queen would swallow this pill she would change for ten minutes into a puff of smoke. And while she was smoke she could escape from any chains or dungeon that held her.

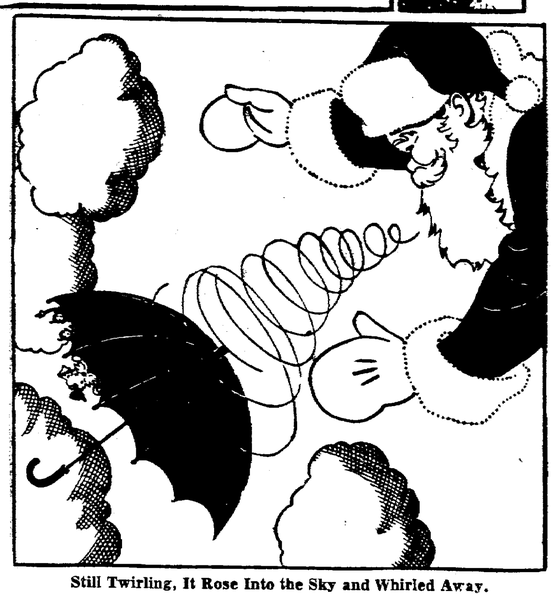
But the problem was how to find the queen and get the pill into her hands.

Suddenly Santa had an idea. It would save the queen and get Willie out of Santa Land at the same time. He called the puppy. And he called Mr. Not Much and Mr. Very Little.

Santa said, "I have a magic pill which will save the Dreamlin queen if you can find her and give it to her."

"The Gremlins live in the attic of an empty castle," said the Dreamlins. "But we do not know where they have imprisoned our queen."

"Perhaps Willie can find her," said Santa.



Still Twirling, It Rose Into the Sky and Whirled Away.

"Me" cried Willie in astonishment. "Me find the Dreamlin queen"

"Of course," said Santa with a smile. "A dog has a fine sense of smell. If you go to the castle where the Gremlins live I am sure you can track down the imprisoned queen."

"Why sure I can!" cried Willie remembering that dogs really are good at tracking. "And if I do that—do you think that then I might be able to fly"

Santa did not answer.

"It will be a very great deed I'll be doing," Willie reminded him, "And very unselfish."

—:—

SANTA LAUGHED. "Well, try it and see," he said. Then Santa tied a string around Willie's neck. On one end of the string was a tiny bag. In the bag was the magic pill for the Dreamlin queen. "And now I will give you my umbrella," said Santa, "and the three of you be off."

"An umbrella" said Mr. Not Much. "Why do we want an umbrella?"

Santa opened the large black umbrella and laid it upside down on the ground. "Jump in," he said. "It will take you wherever you wish."

Willie and the Dreamlins did as they were told.

"We want to go to the castle where the Gremlins live," said Mr. Not Much timidly.

Immediately the umbreall began twirling round on the ground. Still twirling, it rose into the sky and whirled away.

—:—

THEY NEVER saw where they were going or how they got there but before very long the whirling stopped and the umbrella jolted to the ground.

Willie and the Dreamlins jumped out. They found themselves near a great castle. The windows were broken and the gates rusty. Weeds were pushing through the stones.

The Dreamlins shuddered. "It is certainly a fearful looking place," they whispered.

Willie's heart thumped with fright. But he thought of the unselfish deed which would win him the right to fly and he said, "Pooh! What's there to be afraid of? Let's go!"

West Germany Becomes Most Prosperous European Nation

BONN, Germany (UP) — West Germany, five years ago the poor house of the world existing solely on American handouts, is now the most prosperous nation in Europe

All over the globe, governments send their representatives here to ask Germany to help finance their own economic revival programs, a startling change for a nation which five years ago doled out food to its own 48,000,000 people at the rate of 1,325 carefully calculated calories a day.

West Germany's gold and dollar reserves have increased six-fold in three years and now total $1,000,000,000. She was the largest European Payments union debtor in 1950. Today, the EPU owes West Germany more than $700,000,000—so much it will probably force a reorganization of the EPU by spring.

Employment has reached a record 16,000,000 with 2,000,000 new jobs created in three years. Unemployment, at just under 1,000,000, is the lowest since the war, despite a regular influx of refugees from the East.

The industrial production index is 141 of 1936. Wages continue to rise slowly while prices of consumer goods have recently shown a slight decline. There hasn't been a wage strike in three years. The federal (statistical) office estimates that real weekly earnings of industrial workers have increased 86 per cent since 1948, that their food consumption has jumped 27 per cent and their purchases of goods and services have gone up 34 per cent during the same period.

The great unsettled problem remains housing. The government has said that the nation is short 4,000,000 dwelling units as a result of war damage plus the dumping of 10,000,000 refugees into the country since the war. It built 400,000 houses last year, and probably will build that many again this year. But with refugees continuing to flow in, the average number of persons per room has dropped only from 1.17 in 1950 to 1.15 now.

The index of foreign orders placed with German industry in September was 127, compared with 106 the year before. The country probably will have an over-all foreign trade surplus of $500,000,000 for this year, and is the only major state in western Europe no longer requiring or receiving direct American dollar aid.

But the increases are slowing. Almost all of Germany's trade agreements are bilateral, when three or even four-way trade deals are what is required.

Under the bi-lateral arrangements, West Germany finds that she has difficulty keeping trade going without financing it herself. Twenty-one Latin American countries, for instance, are constantly in trade debt to West Germany, a situation which obviously cannot go on forever.

Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard believes the solution is free convertibility of all currencies, letting each find ist own real level, rather than continuing to be bolstered up to a false value by protective trade practices. Already, Erhard has dropped all quantitative restrictions on 91 per cent of Germany's exports. But he feels he can go no further unless Germany's trade partners follow suit quickly.

Presidential Election in France Lacks Color of Traditional U.S. Campaigns

By CROSBY S. NOYES

WASHINGTON (NANA) —Try to imagine a presidential election with no campaign trains, no speeches, no parades, no polling places and no pollsters. Picture candidates who couldn't care less if they are elected and platforms that are potent in proportion to how little they promise.

If you can do these things, you have a pretty fair preview of the historic political event that is taking place in Paris today.

By American standards, the election of a new French president is a pallid affair. Under French law, the president is chosen, not by the people, but by the two houses of parliament. All that happens is that as many of these 947 gentlemen as can make it gather in the meeting hall of the Assembly of the French Union. The president of the National Assembly reads off the names of the candidates that have been suggested to him. Then, without any more fanfare, the secret balloting starts. The first man who comes through with an absolute majority of the votes cast is tapped for the job.

THERE ARE, to be sure, a few willing candidates for the office which commands great prestige and a more-than-comfortable salary. Albert Lutrus, laborer; Roland Grignand, railroad mechanic, and Xavier Levedrine, artificial insemination expert, have all indicated a willingness to accept the honor. None of the dopesters rate their chances very high.

Of the more likely candidates, few are displaying more than a languid interest in the proceedings.

Vincent Auriol, who has held the presidency for the last seven years, could win easily but has ruled himself out as a candidate. The impression is that he might be persuaded to change his mind only in case of a real deadlock.

Other names most frequently mentioned include the present Premier Joseph Laniel, Defense Minister Rene Pleven, Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, former premiers Henri Queuille and Pierre Mendes-France, President of the National Assembly Edouard Herriot. A promising dark horse is an up-and-coming Radical Socialist named Yvon Delbos.

OF THESE, you can more or less take your pick. M. Laniel is supposed to have injured his chances by getting sick at Bermuda. The French, who prefer their presidents to be politically weak, also, it seems like them physically hardy. Messrs. Pleven and Bidault share the liability of being too much in favor of the European defense community. Being for most things—with the notable exception of peace in Indo-China—is unhealthy in French politics. Being for EDC automatically signals the opposition of the Communists and Gaullists who swing some 200 votes between them. M. Queuille and M. Herriot are somewhat old and feeble.

Party affiliations don't mean too much. President Auriol, a Socialist, doesn't behave like one. Since his election in 1947, there has been a shift of political sentiment to the right. In the coming election, the Center parties seem to have the edge. The betting favors the Radical Socialists—who, by the curious alchemy of French politics are much less radical than the Socialists. The feeling is that if they can decide on a single candidate, they will be hard to beat. The party favorites at the moment are either M. Herriot or M. Delbos.

THE ATTITUDE of the candidates is, by tradition, aloof. It would be considered bad form to show overeagerness. More frequently the reactions are on the scornful side. When the unlikely possibility that he might be elected president was suggested to Gen. Charles De Gaulle he is reported to have answered:

"I have not devoted my life to the service of France to end up opening chyrsanthemum shows."

Such witticisms, of course, smack more of fiction than truth and, in the general's case, suggest the flavor of the sour grape. The fact is that under M. Auriol the French presidency has become a far less laughable institution than it is popularly cracked up to be.

For one thing the president has the responsibility of forming governments—a job which in France can keep one man pretty well occupied. His selection may be dictated as much by what the national assembly will accept as by his own preferences. But within a circumscribed area the president can exercise a choice and exert an influence on the directions of French policy.

WITH ALL THE EXISTING constitutional limitations to his power, most people would credit M. Auriol as being a potent factor in the French political equation. True, his influence is largely personal—the result of a fortunate combination of patience, determination and dignity. But, at the same time, it is believed that this new importance will adhere to the office, whoever M. Auriol's successor may be.

When it comes to trying to figure where American interests lie in the contest, the problem is a complicated one. Naturally enough, the State Department, at this point, is saying nothing at all.

As already indicated, all the candidates are in favor of peace in Indo-China. All are cautious on the question of cooperating with the Germans. None seems to qualify as the fire-breathing type of reformer that most Americans feel is needed in France.

On the standard American yardstick—devotion to EDC—there is something of a choice. The pros, ranging from hot to lukewarm, include all members of the present government, plus Messrs. Delbos and Queuille; the cons are Messrs. Herriot and Mendes-France.

On the balance, however, less importance is being attached here to leanings of individual candidates than to the election itself as an expression of the sentiments of a majority of members in parliament. A real show of solidarity behind any of the leading candidates would be taken as a hopeful sign. On the other hand, a long, drawn-out wrangle or sudden swing in favor of any of the more radical parties will be a danger signal for the critical months to come.

STAYED UNDERCOVER. In Flint, Mich., Mrs. Beatrice Churchill, a 52-year-old grandmother, reveals she has worked as an undercover agent for the FBI since 1946. She said she gave the FBI information on party activities. Her testimony was given as a surprise government witness at the trial of six top Michigan Reds.

NOISE INSURANCE

VALDESE, N. C. (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. John Mosteller had a modern brick home but lacked one thing necessary to a happy wedded life. So they went to the nearby Morganton welfare office and adopted six children, including an eight-day-old boy. "We got sick and tired of working all day and coming home at night to nothing but quietness," said Mosteller.

PROGRAM SCHEDULED

A Christmas program by Sunday School children of First Methodist Church at Richwood will be given Sunday night. For the morning worship service at the church the sermon theme will be "For God So Loved the World."

Red Deserters Screened by American Agents at West German 'Shangri-La'

By NORMAN LINDHURST

BONN, (NANA) — Shangri-La, Germany—the name is a fantasy, of course, but then for that matter so is the whole idea until you have been there and seen this remarkable project in operation.

"Shangri-La" is the receiving center for Russian army and air force deserters, and is operated by American intelligence services "somewhere in Western Germany." Every Russian fleeing the Communist yoke who reaches the American zone of Germany automatically finds himself channeled to "Shangri-La."

Certainly any Rusisan turning his back on the harsh Soviet regime and reaching this Alpine cluster of cottages must feel as though he had ascended into a paradise.

It probably has often occurred to you, on reading of Red army desertions to the West, that here must be an invaluable source of intelligence on Russia. It also occurred to the U. S. intelligence services, who established "Shangri-La" in 1951. But few correspondents had been permitted within its carefully guarded high stone walls.

—:—

"SHANGRI-LA" is situated in a picture-postcard landscape. There is an administrative headquarters remodeled to resemble a mountain lodge. The landscaped grounds are dotted with smaller cottages. For it is an inflexible rule at "Shangri-La" that only one Soviet deserter is ever housed in one cottage. In fact the fleeing Soviet soldier or airman is not even called a "deserter"—the word is taboo. To all at "Shangri-La" he is a "guest," and the best is none too good for him.

During his entire stay in this Alpine paradise the Soviet "guest" never sees another Russian deserter. It doesn't just happen so; it is all carefully prearranged.

To glimpse life at "Shangri-La" let us follow the "visit" of Red Army Senior Lieutenant Leonid Gregori Pavlovich, who only three weeks ago was serving with a tank company in eastern Germany.

FOR THE FIRST two weeks, Leonid sat at a table with a team of intelligence experts, eight hours a day, five days a week.

"You are now among friends, but it is up to you to prove that you are genuine. If you prove to be what you say you are, we will help you get a job in a foreign country and arrange passage for you to your new home," the Soviet deserter was told.

A former Soviet major and a captain, both with service in East Germany, are among the interrogators. This team, in nearly three years, has questioned nearly 500 Red army deserters. To deceive them would be extremely difficult.

Leonid was eventually cleared, but the questioning did not end. Now he was passed on to fresh intelligence teams. Still he sat at his table, five hours a day, five days a week, recalling everything he could about the Soviet Union and the Red armed forces—from birth until the moment he crossed the frontier.

IT IS EXHAUSTING, but this relentless, though friendly, probing produces priceless intelligence data. Soviet tank strength in eastern Germany . . . oil production at Baku . . . a complete roster of MVD agents in an East German town . . . Soviet coal production in the Donets basin. A thousand and one details that might save Allied lives if war ever broke out.

Leonid is like a machine dredging up intelligence data under three headings — "The facts I know," "What I was told on good authority," and "The rumors I heard."

Leonid's cottage is elaborately furnished and has beautiful grounds. It has a shortwave radio, and Leonid is baffled when his "hosts" tell him to make a point of tuning in on Radio Moscow as well as western stations. And every morning the Red army "guest" receives a copy of Pravda. Although Leonid probably hasn't guessed, he is deliberately being put through another test—the final one. U. S. intelligence is giving him a calculated opportunity to call off the bargain if he has any doubt about casting his lot with the West.

Leonid is outfitted with an American-made suit, white shirts and gaudy American ties, all with the idea of convincing him that, in this new western world, he will be treated considerately and as an equal.

PRETTY SOON Leonid is taken to a large town for a visit. He is amazed at so many automobiles, shop windows crammed with dresses, radios, furniture and fancy food. With the pocket money he is given, he makes a few purchases —and he can't quite comprehend the freedom of it all.

And, since he has been taught to believe that not only do the western masses live in squalor, but that American Negroes are still slaves, he is astonished to see U. S. Negro soldiers enjoying the same free-and-easy life as others.

Finally—after some three months —Leonid's "work" at Shangri-La will be completed, and he will move to an apartment in some large German city, where he will be free to come and go as he pleases. Later on will come the day when he is handed a passport to the new world, and a plane or ship tickets —one-way tickets to a fresh start in life.

TWICE A YEAR

Days and nights are of equal length throughout the world twice a year, says the National Geographic Society. This occurs at the vernal and autumnal equinoxes, about March 21 and Sept. 21, respectively, when the sun is directly overhead at the equator.

There are 2,600 one-room buildings in Kentucky.

POW RE-ENLISTS. A prisoner in North Korea for 33 months, Edward Topping, 24, Pittsville, Wis., re-enlists in the U. S. Army for four years. Administering the oath in Milwaukee, Wis., recruiting center is Lt. Col. Thomas Stacey.

ENCORE!

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP)—Edward L. Eagan boasts that he has served 17 years in the city council without ever having made a speech.

Man, 91, in Favor Of Some Sickness

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (UP) — John Wesley Cox, 91, advises frequent illness to assure longevity.

"If a man's not used to sickness, he's liable to croak the first time a little old bug gets hold of him," Cox said. "It's like trying to climb in the ring and fight somebody when you're not in training."

Cox, a retired farmer, has spent a good part of his life around doctors' offices and hospitals. His son, Harvey Cox, recalled that "there seldom ever was a time when Dad felt real good."

Cox said when he was 40 he never expected to reach 50 and after that he was certain he would die before reaching 60. At 85 he underwent major surgery.

Today he is spry and still going to doctors. He gave up chewing tobacco long ago and never smoked or drank.

"Wasn't necessary," he said, "I was able to get sick without it."

Connecticut claims that the first successful U.S. steel mill was set up in 1744 in Simsbury.

Big Future Predicted for Canned Diet

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Portly Emanuel Ebin, a meat canner, was told a few years ago by his wife:

"You are getting too heavy. You will have to take off some weight."

Since his wife was a physician, Ebin decided to follow her advice. But, like millions of other Americans, he found that sticking to a diet required not only willpower—it also took a lot of time and trouble.

It is the rare hostess or restaurant that considers the special dietary problems of guests. And people on diets who prepare their own dishes find it quite a nuisance.

After brooding over his difficulties for some time, Ebin asked himself:

"Why not put a diet in a can—wouldn't that solve the diet problem for most people?"

It might. But Ebin found that putting a diet in a can was easier to say than do. Some 30 manufacturers were already packing sugar-free fruit or salt-free vegetables.

"But nobody was canning dietetic substance foods—such as soups and meat and poultry dishes," said Ebin.

He and his brother, Benjamin, with whom he founded Dorset Foods, Ltd., in 1939 after they came here from Poland, decided to pioneer in this new field.

"We thought it would take only a few weeks to solve the problems," Ebin recalled ruefully. "It took us two years finally. We had to make hundreds of tests and spend thousands of dollars before we could produce tasty dishes in which the caloric value and sodium content could be scientifically controlled."

A diet low in salt and other substances containing sodium is often recommended for heart patients as well as for those who merely want to lose weight. Ebin's new dietetic lines consists of five kinds of soup and four meat and poultry dishes, most of which have been approved by the American Medical Assn. The others are still undergoing tests.

The caloric value and sodium content of each dish are printed on the can, making it easier for a patient to follow specific directions by his physician.

The canning industry has had two great booms in the last 25 years — canned dog foods and canned baby foods. Ebin believes canned dietetic foods may provide a third wave of prosperity in this field.

"There are 9 million people in this country on special diets for specific diseases," he said. "There are also about 35 million adult Americans dieting to lose an average of about 16 pounds each—or 560 million pounds.

"If only 20 million of these dieters spend $50 annually on canned dietetic foods that will make a billion dollar a year industry. And by 1965 that figure will be conservative."

Ebin has an even bigger dream—that in time diet pack canned goods will replace present canning methods altogether.

"Why not?" he argued. "It will make it simpler for the housewife. All she will have to do is add salt and sugar for members of the family who aren't on a diet."

In any case Ebin remains one of the few people who went on a diet to slim his waist and ended up by having his pocketbook gain weight.

STAGE COACH JOURNEY

"I HAD TRAVELED 3 DAYS AND 3 NIGHTS AND WAS SO WEARIED, BRUISED AND HURT THAT I COULD NOT, WITH COMFORT, SIT, LIE OR WALK."

A report on the international convention held in Canada this summer was presented by Miss Betty Moore when members of the Zeta Theta alumnae chapter of Alpha Iota Sorority met recently at the YMCA.

Wife Tops in Law, Husband Applauds

PASSAIC, N.J. (UP)—Mrs. Serena Bowen is equally adept at changing diapers and debating constitutional law.

Mrs. Bowen, an outstanding scholor in Rutgers University School of Law in Newark, is editor of the Rutgers Law Review, the first woman in the publication's 38-year-old history to hold the job.

The 24-year-old housewife overcame paternal objections to a law career after an education at Vassar.

Things became complicated when one-year-old Thane Emerson Bowen, Jr., arrived during his mother's second year at law school. But Mrs. Bowen, sleepy-eyed after two months of early morning feedings, caught up with her studies and at the term end won the Lawyers' Co-operative Publishing Prize or excellence in constitutional law.

A nurse and a dog later were employed to keep young Thane company during Mom's school hours.

Mrs. Bowen's husband, a Clifton, N. J. rose grower, said he "thoroughly approves" of his wife's ambition to graduate next June and enter general law practice with her father and brother.

"I can't make the usual housewifey complaints, since he knows more about them than I do," said Mrs. Bowen.

Collection of Rubbish, Garbage Speeded Up for Coming Week

A speeded up schedule of rubbish and garbage collection in Marion next week was announced today by Safety-Service Director Ralph Forrest.

In order that collection crews may be given the Saturday after Christmas off, crews on residential collection routes will work 11 hours each day Monday through Thursday, Forrest said. Collections in the business district will remain unchanged with exception of Christmas Day when all crews will be off.

The longer working days will result in the fololwing schedule speed up on all residential routes, Forrest said.

Monday — Pickups for Monday plus Tuesday morning pickups.

Tuesday — Pickups for Tuesday afternoon plus Wednesday pickups will be made.

Wednesday — Pickups for Thursday plus Friday morning pickups.

Thursday — Friday afternoon pick-ups plus Saturday pickups.

All residents are advised to follow this schedule and place rubbish and garbage out the night before pickup is scheduled, Forrest said.

Parrot's Coffee Takes Cream, Lots of Sugar

JACKSON, Tenn. (UP) — Chuck may be just a parrot but he's like many a human—he can't wait for that morning cup of coffee.

The Nathan Rowells own Chuck, a "double yellow-head" parrot. Every morning Chuck wings into the room of Mrs. Rowell's mother, Mrs. Will Long, walks the floor and fusses until she gets up. Then he goes to the back of a breakfast chair to wait for that coffee. He likes it with cream and lots of sugar.

Chuck willsleep only in the room of the Rowell's 15-year-old son, Bill, but Mrs. Long is the only person who can touch him without getting nipped.

Among Chuck's food favorites are bread, nuts, soft drinks, sunflower seeds and loops from a shag rug.

Television No Help For Flies, Insects

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UP)—They'll never sell bees, flies and shore slaters on the wonders of television, according to Philip R. Ruck, U. S. Public Health Service Fellow at the University of California in Los Angeles.

A human is able to see movies and TV as pictures in motion because his "flicker fusion" frequency is slow. But the three lowly creatures mentioned above see them only as a rapid procession of stills.

Flicker fusion frequency determines how the series of individual stills on a movie film appear to the viewer. The flickers are quicker than the eye in human beings and fuse into a continuous motion picture.

A fast flicker fusion frequency may keep a bee from enjoying a movie, but it has its advantages. It enables him, while in rapid flight, to see individual objects distinctly instead of as blurs. Else he might pass up a likely blossom brimming with nectar.

Another visual advantage enjoyed by bees, as well as flies and shore slaters, is that bright light does not dazzle them. This is because their visual sense cells are not desensitized by the light to the same extent as those of human eyes, which are temporarily blinded even after a light is removed.

Airplane designers expect to have airliners in a few years which can leave New York at noon and arrive in Los Angeles at noon the same day.

Decision To Run for Governor Helps

Lausche Becomes Presidential Timber

By JAY G. HAYDEN

WASHINGTON (NANA) — Announcement by Gov. Frank J. Lausche of candidacy for an unhim as a powerful Democratic present office immediately marked him as a powerful Democratic pre idential prospect for 1956—provided of course that he is re-elected governor next November.

Lausche continues to deny national political ambition. But so did his neighbor, former Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, until the last possible moment. When Stevenson was nominated for Presiden on the third ballot, scarcely anyone was in doubt as to his acceptance. But it was not until he addressed the convention, after receiving notice of the nomination, that he actually said "Yes."

Stevenson held back mainly because he already had been renominated for governor—after assuring the Democrats of his state that he had no aspiration beyond that office for 1952 and fully intended to stick to it. He may have been wholly sincere in that declaration, but whether so or not, he obviously was bound by it to await a "draft" for the presidency.

COMPULSION of politics for Lausche are much the same. His stock in trade has been bipartisanism. A host of Republicans vote for him for governor, while supporting candidates of their own party for President or other national office. If Lausche now should even hint that he was building for ultimate presidential candidacy there might be a sharp drop in his gubernatorial strength.

There is a close resemblance between Lausche and Earl Warren, former Republican governor of California now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. In his state Warren played the bipartisan game. He won again and again despite the fact that the Democrats had more than a 1,000,000 lead in party registration.

In 1944 Warren could have had vice presidential nomination on a platter but declined it because, then in his first gubernatorial term, he couldn't afford to mar his bipartisan status. Even in 1948 he accepted the vice presidential designation with great reluctance and probably in the final analysis to his regret.

LAUSCHE'S vote-getting power, since he first was elected judge of a Cleveland municipal court in 1932, is most remarkable. He went on to membership of a higher court (1937-41), mayor (1941-44) and governor ever since, excepting two years (1947-48) for which he was defeated 1,166,550 to 1,125,997 as part of a nationwide Republican landslide.

In 1950 Lausche came back by 150,000 margin while the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, on the opposite ticket, swept the state by 431,000.

Lausche's supreme triumph up to now occurred in 1952 when he defeated Charles P. Taft, brother of the late Senator, 2,019,029 to 1,592,462, while President Eisenhower was winning the state 2,098,481 to 1,602,739.

It is important to note, however, that when Senator Taft was being bitterly assailed by all labor unions for his championship of the Taft - Hartley law, Lausche spoke out publicly in defense of that statute. And in 1952 Lausche largely avoided commitment as between Eisenhower and Stevenson on the ground that he was dealing with state issues.

THIS VERY partisan detachment could be Lausche's biggest asset in 1956, in that he has kept himself clear of such controverted issues as racial segregation, offshore oil, farm price support at 90 per cent of parity, and the controversies of either Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, Republican, or Sen. Pat McCarran, Democrat.

It is important to note further that while Lausche is keeping himself before the voters, as a candidate for governor in 1952, Stevenson's last success as a vote getter, in the 1948 gubernatorial race in Illinois, will be eight years old when the next presidential contest rolls around.

Lausche's choice of the governorship is distinctly pleasing to Republicans nationally in that it removes him from contention for the senatorial seat vacated by the death of Senator Taft.

On that score, even so, the Republicans are far from happy. In appointing Mayor Thomas Burke of Cleveland to fill out Taft's term Lausche probably supplied his party with a candidate second only to himself in bipartisan vote-pulling power. And Burke's only notable utterance since he arrived in Washington, was a mild taking of sides with President Eisenhower as against McCarthy.

The combination of Lausche and Burke on the Democratic ticket is going to be hard for the Republicans to beat.

Arizona, New Mexico Purchase Still Paying Off After 100 Years

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Gadsden Purchase, a productive 30,000,000-acre tract acquired as an afterthought to the Mexican War, 100 years old this month.

On Dec. 30, 1853, James Gadsden, U. S. minister of Mexico, and Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna, the Mexican leader, signed a treaty awarding all or part of seven southern Arizona counties and four New Mexico counties to the United States. This country paid Mexico $10,000,000 for the territory.

The agreement settled Mexico's $15,000,000 claim for damage caused by Indians raiding the area from the United States side of the border. The strip of land in question, south of the Gila River, had become a sort of no-man's land at the close of the Mexican War in 1848.

When President Franklin Pierce proposed buying the arid area, many government officials and prominent private citizens assailed the acquisition of "worthless land." The treaty met strong opposition in the Senate. Anti-slavery senators opposed further acquisition of slave territory and there were objections to furnishing financial assistance to Santa Anna.

American railroads, then engaged in a race to link the newly discovered gold field of California with eastern supply centers, were anxious for the land. By a narrow margin, the treaty was ratified on April 25, 1854.

Twenty years passed before the projected railroad—the Southern Pacific—was constructed. Tucson, Ariz., the area's largest city, was an adobe-walled village a century ago. Today it is a resort center with a metropolitan population of 170,000.

The area already has yielded more than $4,000,000,000 in copper and other minerals. Irrigation has converted its desert wastes into cultivated areas of cotton, citrus fruits, dates, pecans, barley, and alfalfa.

Rainy Weather Quiets Knocks in Auto Engine

CHICAGO (UP) — If your car seems to run most quietly on rainy days it's not your imagination, according to a fuel expert.

E. H. Scott, of the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, told the National Fuels and Lubricants meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers that tests showed a car is most liable to knock in dry, hot weather with a high barometer reading. In wet, cool weather with low barometer readings, cars exhibit the least tendency to knock.

NIGHT OUT—AND IN

LISBON, Portugal (UP)—After touring the city in a taxi all evening with his girl friend, Francisco Sacadura Bretes told the cabbie to drive him to the city jail because he had no money to pay the fare. The cabbie obliged, and the police did the rest.

EXPLOSIVE GRAVY

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — Mrs. R. H. Peek fled when balls of gravy started popping out of the frying pan. An investigation showed popcorn was mixed in with the flour.

WRONG SORT OF DOLLS

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — Five-year-old Suzanne Brescia complained that she didn't see any dolls during the show, "Guys and Dolls." "All I see is a lot of guys," she said.

Noted Architect Levels Blast at His Profession

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Frank Lloyd Wright, the perennial rebel and one of the greats in American architecture, is a ripe 84 years old but he's lost none of the fire of his youth.

Wright came here recently to make a routine address before the Northern California Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

But instead of droning the customary niceties of a more conventional after-dinner speaker, he lambasted his own profession with the zeal of a fire-and-brimstone preacher and castigated Americans in general for their respect of "mediocrity."

Wright waded into his subject with obvious relish and told the startled California architects:

"I am ashamed of my profession. There are no architects any more. There are only employes. Nowadays the prizes for buildings go to corporations, not to men. The successor to Sir Christopher Wren is Lever Brothers."

The venerable, white-haired apostle of design, who is given to wearing brightly colored weskits and flowing ties crumpled through an irregular knot, said he had never identified himself with the architecture profession because it refused to rebel against the domination of the machine.

Wright said architects should be the "form-givers, the way-showers, the prophets."

"But I don't see them at work anywhere. They do not give form to our buildings and thus to our lives. They show no way to a life of beauty."

Wright, once described by the noted Swedish architect, Siegfried Gideon, as "the only man in the world who can draw poetry out of industry," called himself an "old one" who has "written too many books" and "talked too much."

"I used to say we must learn to master the machine," he said. "I never thought what I feared would come about. We are dominated by the machine in all our lives.

"Our standards of beauty have been reduced to standards of taste, imposed with a crook of the little finger. By the way of taste you can go to hell awfully fast."

Pastel Hosiery Planned For Shorter Skirtlines

NEW YORK (UP) — Pastel-colored hose will show beneath the shorter skirts come spring, the hosiery industry says.

If the idea sounds startling at first, the manufacturers add a comforting note.

"The new nylons are so wispy sheer," the Association said, "the skin tone subdues the color of the osiery—leaving only a delectable blush on the legs."

BUSY INVALID

NEEDHAM, Mass. (UP)—Though Owen Webb has been confined to his home by tuberculosis for the past five years, he has developed a highly successful business in which he directs a 25-man sales force from his bedside.

PARTY NOTE

HONG KONG (UP) — A refugee recently arrived from China reported that the Communists have banned "ad-libbing" by musicians, ordering them to play only what is written on their music sheets.
